CHALLENGES HIS ENEMIES TO OFFER P.G.E. SOLUTION

If They Have Better Plan Than His, Premier is Willing to Retire

Says Bowser Will Not Continue His Fight For Freight Rate Justice

Vancouver, June 4—"If you want in British Columbia a Government that knows all about the injustice and iniquity of existing discrimination in railway rates but will not protest against them, you will have to elect Mr. Bowser and his followers and tell John Oliver and the rest of the Liberals to get out," declared Premier Oliver at a meeting held last night in South Vancouver in the interests of W. J. Buckingham, Liberal candidate in that riding.

The Premier repeated the statement at Odd Fellows' Hall, Marpole, where he addressed his fourth meeting in two days in Richmond-Point Grey with H. P. McCraney, the Liberal candidate.

"Mr. Bowser knew all about these things for many years. I myself drew public attention to them in 1907 when I moved a resolution in the Legislature.

"But Mr. Bowser and the Conservatives went along in office until 1916 and made never a move. You judge men and parties by their records. That is their record. What would you expect from it?" continued Mr. Oliver in closing an effective and vigorous exposition of the transportation rates question.

RIDICULOUS RATES

"Ridiculous, isn't it?" was the Premier's comment on facts and figures he quoted to show that the unjust burden of discriminatory freight and express rates affect both producer and consumer in British Columbia.

Premier Oliver repeated his declaration of policy regarding the P.G.E. "The Pacific Great Eastern can never earn even operating expenses unless it taps the Peace River district," he said. "Under existing circumstances we can not finish it ourselves. Either the Dominion Government must give substantial assistance to the C.P.R. or the Canadian National, to connect up with the Edmonton and Dunvegan Line, or we must seek some other solution.

WOULD FAVOR SUBSIDY

"If we can not get connection with that country otherwise, I am prepared to advise a land subsidy. If it is necessary to take such bitter medicine, it is as well to take it with a smile. I challenge our opponents in this campaign to offer a better suggestion, and if they advance one that the people think is better, I am willing to give up office and let them go to it," declared the Premier amid cheers.

"What a Royal Commission could discover that we do not know already is something I cannot tell you," he added, amid laughter.

MACKELVIE FUNERAL IN CITY OF VERNON

Member of Parliament For Yale, B.C., Died Suddenly in Ottawa

Had Attended Night Sitting of House; in Fifty-Ninth Year

Ottawa, June 4—The body of John Armstrong Mackelvie, aged fifty-eight, Conservative member of Parliament for Yale, B.C., who died suddenly of heart disease in his hotel here early this morning shortly after attending a night session of the House, will be taken to Vernon, B.C., for burial, leaving here early Thursday morning.

Death was due to natural causes, according to medical men, and no inquest will be held.

At 8 o'clock to-night a funeral service will be conducted by Rev. Wesley E. Megawa, pastor of the Stewarton Presbyterian Church, at the undertaking parlors where the body lies.

For some little time it was known that closest friends were seriously concerned over Mr. Mackelvie's state of health, according to Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Leader of the Conservative Party. "However, none of us feared that he would be taken from us with such terrible suddenness," Mr. Meighen continued.

HE SERVED WELL

"Although he was not old in years, his life was full of service. A pioneer in the West, his interest in the military forces, his labors in the field of journalism and his sterling soundness of character and honesty of purpose won for him the respect and confidence of the people in his Province. In Parliament his genial personality, his ever-ready willingness to assist, his close attention to his sessional duties and his careful study of questions affecting the Dominion endeared him to his political friends and earned for him the well-merited respect of his political foes.

"We all sincerely and deeply feel for his widow in her great loss."

BORN IN ST. JOHN

Mr. Mackelvie was born in St. John, N.B., and since 1893 was editor of The Vernon News.

U.S. Dirigible Over Canada at Niagara Falls

Lakehurst, N.J., June 4.—The Shenandoah, United States giant navy dirigible, returned to its base this morning almost twenty-four hours after beginning a 1,000-mile trip over three states, during which it crossed the Canadian border at Niagara Falls.

Elevator Assured For Prince Rupert

Vancouver, June 4.—A special to The Province to-day from Prince Rupert says:

"Word was received here this morning by Hon. T. D. Pattullo from Premier Oliver that Premier King has authorized the announcement that a terminal grain elevator will be built at Prince Rupert by the Dominion Government. Provision for this will be made in this year's estimates."

Halibut Treaty Is Given Approval By Senate of U.S.

Washington, June 4.—A bill to carry out provisions of the treaty with Canada for protection of the Pacific halibut fisheries was passed by the Senate to-day and sent to the House.

Labor Leaders Denounce Rowdies In South Africa

Durban, South Africa, June 4.—Colonel Boydell, deputy leader of the Labor forces in the South African Union, strongly denounces the rowdyism which has prevailed at meetings addressed by Premier Smuts and other South African Party leaders. Boydell stated that such behavior simply plays into Smuts' hands. Other prominent members of the Labor Party in Natal have condemned the disorders, which they declare have no connection with the Labor Party.

MILLERAND CONSULTS PAINLEVE ABOUT FORMATION OF MINISTRY TO SUCCEED ONE POINCARE LED

Paris, June 4.—President Millerand summoned Paul Painleve, former premier and newly-elected President of the Chamber of Deputies, to the Elysee Palace to-day for a consultation in regard to the formation of a new Cabinet to succeed the outgoing Cabinet headed by Raymond Poincare.

M. Painleve was elected President of the Chamber to-day, defeating M. Maginot, Minister of War in the Poincare Government by a vote of 296 to 209.

The presidency of the Chamber of Deputies is regarded in the case of M. Painleve as a likely stepping stone to the presidency of France. He could be a member of the new Cabinet, but he prefers the more neutral task of President of the Chamber. He is generally regarded as probably the next President of France and is backed in this by the Radicals.

MILLERAND DETERMINED

Paris, June 4.—President Millerand made known to his friends to-day that he was determined to remain in office under any circumstances unless there should be a majority vote in the Senate and Chamber of Deputies asking him to retire. Furthermore, this vote must be in open session, with the vote of each Senator and deputy recorded.

A resolution was adopted yesterday by 122 Senators of the Democratic Left, declaring President Millerand must resign.

M. Millerand's friends declare he would betray all the duties of office in violation of the constitution he is sworn to maintain if he should abandon the post for which he received a mandate for seven years.

Adversaries of the President are credited with the intention of forcing events, however.

It is understood a motion will be introduced in the Chamber, to-day raising the presidential question and giving the House an opportunity to pronounce its verdict at once.

A POSTPONEMENT

Failing this, the decision will have to be postponed until to-morrow, when M. Millerand, in accordance with customary procedure, summons Edouard Herriot as leader of the new majority and tenders him the premiership, vacated by M. Poincare.

M. Herriot, it is believed, will refuse and then ask the House to endorse his course of action, solution of the crisis being dependent upon the ensuing vote.

PREMIER DENIES TALE OF LIQUOR BOARD REMOVAL

There is absolutely no truth in the statement published by a contemporary to-day that the Government is planning to move the provincial liquor administration offices to Vancouver, Premier Oliver declared to-day.

"I have heard nothing of such a proposal," the Premier declared. "This report is just election talk."

SAYS RECORDS PROVE McRAE'S DEFENCE FALSE

Oliver Produces Documents to Prove General's Port Mann Profits

Premier Will Answer Provincials' Affidavit in Cobble Hill Speech

Premier Oliver will go to Cobble Hill to-night to answer the Provincial Party's sworn denial of his attack on General A. D. McRae in connection with the Port Mann townsite promotion.

The Premier had before him, on his arrival here to-day, exhaustive data on the Port Mann scheme to support his charges against the Provincial Party leader. This data, the Premier asserted, absolutely disproved the statement published by the Provincials late last week that the Canadian Northern Railway only paid $1 for the land which it purchased at Port Mann. This statement was issued in the form of an affidavit, copies of which were distributed at the Premier's meeting in Vancouver last Saturday.

"The records of the land registry office at New Westminster," the Premier declared to-day, "show that General McRae paid $433,333.75 for the whole of Port Mann property. Part of the property was sold to the Canadian Northern Railway for $571,410 and another part of the

NEW GOVERNMENT IN NEWFOUNDLAND

Hickman Ministry Defeated in General Election; Monroe to be Premier

St. Johns, Nfld., June 4.—The defeat of the Hickman Government, virtually assured when returns last night from Monday's general election indicated that the opposition party headed by Walter Monroe had elected eighteen of the thirty-six members of the Newfoundland Legislature, was made certain to-day when it was learned that two more opposition members had been elected in Burin. It is expected Premier Hickman will hand his resignation to Governor Allardyce within a few days, and that Monroe will be called upon to form a new Government.

Great Train of 150 Cars Of B. C. Shingles Is to Be Sent to Eastern U.S.

Everett, Wash., June 4.—One hundred and fifty cars of British Columbia shingles, pulled by three locomotives, will leave here for Buffalo, N.Y., and Eastern States Saturday. It is said by Great Northern Railway officials that it will be the longest shingle train to leave the Pacific Coast in the history of the railroad.

The train was assembled here, so the large locomotives need not be sent across the Fraser River bridge.

EXPLORER WANTS ONLY NORWAY'S FLAG ON POLAR PLANES

CAPT. ROALD AMUNDSEN

Rome, June 4.—Lieut. Locatelli, well-known Italian aviator who is to pilot one of the three aeroplanes which Roald Amundsen is to lead on a flight to the North Pole, declared to-day after a consultation with Premier Mussolini that he was ready to make the Polar flight alone rather than yield to the Norwegian explorer's insistence that only the Norwegian colors be flown on the Arctic trip.

SAN SOVINO WAS WINNER OF DERBY

Earl of Derby, Owner, Cheered By Throngs at Epsom Downs, England

Lord Astor's St. Germans Second; and S. Tattersal's Hurstwood Third Horse

Epsom Downs, Eng., June 4—The Earl of Derby's San Sovino, by Swynford out of Gondolette, won the Derby, England's classic turf event, run here to-day. Viscount Astor's St. Germans, by Swynford out of Hamoaze was second and Somervile Tattersal's Hurstwood, by Gay Crusader out of Bleasdale, third. Twenty-seven horses ran.

San Sovino won by six lengthts on a slow and wet track, thus for the first time in 137 years bringing triumph on Epsom Downs to the family which founded the historic race in 1780.

There was one false start in today's race, some of the horses covering a full furlong before being called back. The horses were unruly and the tape was broken several times.

CHEERED BY THOUSANDS

Nothing short of a royal victory could have thrilled and pleased the crowd more than a triumph for the House of Derby and the Earl was cheered by hundreds of thousands in the enormous throng as he led San Sovino into the paddock.

San Sovino's time was 2 minutes 46 2-5 seconds, which was 12 1-5 seconds slower than the record. Rounding Tattenham Corner, San Sovino held the lead. He kept the lead from then on and won in a canter.

DONOGHUE LAST

The winner was ridden by Weston, St. Germans was ridden by Bullock, and Hurstwood by V. Smith. Steve Donoghue, riding J. B. Joel's Defiance, had the unwelcome distinction of finishing last.

Lord Roseberry's Paramenio finished fourth. Frank O'Neil on Sir Edward Hulton's Spalpeen, came in eighth. Archibald, riding Resinato, finished fourteenth.

GUARDS WATCHING CHICAGO YOUTHS

Measures Taken to Prevent N. Leopold and R. Loeb Committing Suicide

Murder Indictment Asked Following Killing of Young Robert Franks

Chicago, June 4—Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, millionaires' sons, admitted kidnappers and slayers of Robert Franks, schoolboy son of wealthy Jacob Franks, have signed no confessions of guilt, it became known to-day, and the state, which has asked the grand jury for murder indictments, must rely on testimony of witnesses who heard their statements.

Double guards have been placed to watch the county jail cells of the pair day and night until they are tried. The officials being fearful that either may attempt to carry out previously expressed suicide plans, all food taken to them is rigidly inspected and jail employees have been cautioned to prevent smuggling to them of any means of self-destruction. The precautions were taken after a conference of jail officials with the state attorneys when the grand jury completed its first day's inquiry yesterday.

COMPLETE EVIDENCE

Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, said he would not hurry the indictments and that every available witness would be called to testify before the grand jury. Eleven witnesses went before the jury yesterday and more than a score remain to be heard.

That the defence will be made by the most brilliant attorneys in the country is considered certain by the prosecutors because of the reputed $15,000,000 represented by the parents of the youths.

PENALTY PREDICTED

"All the money in the world won't save these boys, however," declared Michael Hughes, chief of detectives. "It is the most nearly complete case

REFUSES TO SPEAK AT INQUIRY IN U.S.; H. M. DAUGHERTY

Washington, June 4.—Former Attorney-General Daugherty to-day notified the Senate committee which has had his personal conduct under investigation for nearly four months that he would neither testify as a witness nor be represented further by counsel at its proceedings.

The committee had asked the former Attorney-General to take the witness stand on Friday as the last witness before a preliminary report is submitted to the Senate. No formal subpoena had been issued for him, however, and committee members have indicated that they would take no steps to compel his appearance.

LOWER MAINLAND AREAS SWEPT BY FOREST FIRES AND HEAVY LOSSES CAUSED

Entire Logging Camp North of Port Coquitlam, Including Seven-mile Railroad, Destroyed; Timber Limits Near Cultus Lake, In Fraser Valley, Burned Over; Gangs of Men Battle With Flames

Coquitlam, B.C., June 4.—The entire logging camp, with all equipment, including a seven-mile logging railroad, owned by the Hage Logging Company, six miles north of Port Coquitlam, was burned out last night by a fire which is raging over the whole mountainous district of the municipality. The loss in the camp equipment alone is estimated at $100,000.

All efforts to check the flames which, fanned by a strong gale, are sweeping everything before them, have failed and the entire logging crews, consisting of more than 100 men, have been brought down the logging trail to Port Haney.

It is stated the fire is spreading with alarming rapidity and burning up the vast limits of the company, which stretch over an area of ten square miles between Port Colquitlam and Port Moody.

100 MEN FIGHT FIRE

A hundred firefighters are battling with a fire which, fanned by prevalent high winds, swept the Campbell River Logging Company limits near Cultus Lake, in the Fraser Valley, while the big area between the east end of the green timber and the Port Kells town line road is fireswept.

With a hazardous situation, due to a heavy westerly wind and undergrowth like tinder from the lack of rain for nearly a month, forest fires occurred on Tuesday throughout the lower mainland and on Vancouver Island. Co-operation of wardens and the public prevented a devastating conflagration.

Further Payment By Home Bank is Declared Probable

Ottawa, June 4.—Asked whether there would be any further payments made by the defunct Home Bank, G. T. Clarkson, liquidator, told E. Guss Porter, Conservative, West Hastings, at the meeting of the House Committee on Privileges and Elections this morning that "under normal conditions a payment of ten per cent might be expected."

PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY OPENS ANNUAL SESSIONS IN CITY OF OWEN SOUND

Owen Sound, Ont., June 4. All things are prepared and ready for the forty-ninth meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, which will open its session in Knox Church here this evening.

At 8 o'clock the first sederunt will be held, the Assembly constituted and the new Moderator elected. Following this, the various committees will be appointed. Thursday will see the real business of the Assembly begun with the presentation of six or seven reports.

The choice of the new Moderator of the Assembly is made by open vote, any commissioner being free to place in nomination any other member. It is freely conceded that Rev. Dr. Clarence Mackinnon, Principal of the Presbyterian College, Halifax, will be the Assembly's next Moderator.

An attempt to wipe out the debt of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, which now totals $398,000, is forecast in the annual reports which are to be submitted. With this in view and with the church union question still in the air, it is likely a conservative policy of embarking on no new enterprises will prevail.

MRS. H. G. PEPALL AND TWO CHILDREN LOST THEIR LIVES

Burned to Death When Summer Cottage in Ontario Was Destroyed

Harry Pepall is Awaiting Trial in Toronto on Ontario Charge

Toronto, June 4.—Mrs. Harry G. Pepall, wife of Harry G. Pepall, formerly manager of the Aemilius Jarvis bond firm, Toronto, and her two children, Ned, five years, and Rosemary, three years, lost their lives when their Summer cottage at Eastborne, Lake Simcoe, was destroyed by fire early this morning. Aileen, aged eight years, the eldest daughter, and the maid escaped.

According to details of the tragedy which have reached the relatives of the family here, Mrs. Pepall, her daughter Aileen and the maid rushed outside for help when they discovered the flames, but as the nearest residence was a considerable distance from the cottage no assistance could be obtained.

The maid and Aileen rushed along the road to summon aid while Mrs. Pepall went back into the building to rescue her two children. That she had almost succeeded in effecting a

THINKS PEAK OF TAXATION REACHED

City Comptroller Expects Reduction in 1925

Explains Financial Situation of City to Real Estate Board

"In my opinion the peak of civic taxation has been reached, and with the levy this year being no higher than in 1923 in spite of the fact that the revenue from the reverted lands is lost to us this year, there is every possibility of a slight reduction in 1925," said City Comptroller D. A. Macdonald in an address to the Real Estate Board at luncheon to-day.

In spite of the expenditures on capital account for the last seven years, the building of the Johnson Street bridge, a large contribution to the new East Wing of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, and the carrying out of a large amount of street improvements, Mr. Macdonald reminded his audience of the reduction in the total debt, the retirements exceeding new commitments by a total of $1,636,000. He felt it could be argued that the city was in a better position than it was a year or two ago.

TOTAL DEBT

He proceeded: "Of the total gross debt of $17,152,665.48 at January last, $5,514,554.21 consists of serial debentures, so that the City is reducing its debt very steadily, and each year the levy for interest is less by the amount of the interests on the serial payments of the previous year. During the next few years no new debt should be contracted, unless for some

CHILDREN'S DAY AT SIDNEY A SUCCESS

Parade and Sports Yesterday Enjoyed by Many; Dance in Evening

Special to The Times

Sidney, June 4.—Children's Day, which was held under the auspices of the North Saanich Women's Institute in the Memorial Park yesterday, the King's birthday, was most successful and enjoyable. It was a beautiful day and everyone worked hard to give the children a good time.

The procession started from the bank, headed by the Boys' Pipe Band and the drum major. A car with the president of the North Saanich Women's Institute, Mrs. Peden, president of the board of directors, and Mrs. Raven, secretary of the board of directors, followed. A decorated car of the Girl Guides was next, with Mrs. C. C. Cochrane driving, and decorated bicycles followed. Then came the May Queen, Miss Joan Wright, on a very prettily decorated float in green, white and yellow, the institute colors, with her maids of honor, the Misses J. Goddard, M. Critchley, F. Hambley, D. Calvert, D. Brethour, E. Campbell and A. Robinson, also dressed in green and white, and driven by Mr. Coward, who was drssed in plush livery with two very fine bay horses. The decorated buggies and wagons and more bicycles followed.

QUEEN CROWNED

On the throne was waiting last year's May Queen, Miss Phyllis McKillican, who looked very pretty in green crepe de chine. The queen and her retinue descended from the float and she then mounted her throne, with her maids of honor beside her and three small boys, who were dressed in green suits and caps with long white feathers. The pages were B. Shade and E. Roberts, the crown bearer J. Conway and flower girl Aileen McKay. Last year's Queen then crowned Miss Joan Wright, who looked handsome and was dressed in an early Victorian brocade dress with long white satin train and ermine stole.

After the crowning the Queen called on her subjects, as it was the King's birthday, to salute the flag and sing the National Anthem. Mrs. Peden then presented a gift of a very pretty blue butterfly brooch, pendant and ring to the Queen; suitable presents to the maids of honor and the pages.

HUNDREDS ATTENDED

Hundreds of people were on the grounds, many having come from Victoria, Royal Oak and Saanichton.

DANCE ENJOYED

A dance was given in Berquist's Hall in the evening by F. Wright in honor of his daughter, the May Queen. Ozard's orchestra from Victoria supplied the music. About 300 people were there. M. B. Jackson, K.C., presented the May Queen with a bouquet, also presenting bouquets to the maids of honor.

Messrs. Smith, Wright and Heal were floor managers.

Supper was in charge of Mrs. Wright, assisted by friends.

Races were run and a lacrosse match, Sidney Juniors vs. Esquimalt, resulted in a win for the latter by 11-3. There was a candy stall in charge of Mrs. Whiting, a pop stall in charge of Mrs. Storey and Miss Bamden, an ice cream stall with Mrs. J. T. Taylor and Mrs. Ormond to look after it; bran tub, Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. Straight.

TEA SERVED

Tea was in charge of Mrs. Philp, assisted by Mesdames Crossley, Jeffries, Blackburn, Chancellor Hambley, Jackson and Ward. The Misses F. Rose, P. McKillican and A. Watts waited. As the children were given a free tea, everyone was kept very busy.

The energetic secretary of the Athletic Association, V. Goddard, had arranged a baseball game for the evening as well as the lacrosse game. The evening game was a commercial baseball association game, Sidney vs. Civil Servants of Victoria, the latter winning by 8-2.

Mrs. Shade, who had worked untiringly, arranged the whole procession and decorated the float.

JUDGING DONE

Mrs. Peden and Mrs. Raven judged the decorated events and the May Queen presented the prizes, which were as follows:

Best decorated car—The Girl Guides as as Red Cross car, done in white and the occupants dressed as nurses.

Sir A. Dudley's Buck's Yoeman threw his jockey, Smirke, but the rider was not injured.

AN EARLY SUCCESS

Seven years after the race was founded the then Lord Derby's horse, Sir Peter Teazle, captured the race. Ever since then, as Lord Derby remarked the other night, his family has been trying to win the Derby. To-day it finally scored a brilliant success through San Sovino's fine performance.

San Sovino, who had been made favorite in the event overnight, was 9 to 2 against in the betting. St. Germans at 100 to 7 against, finished a neck ahead of Hurstwood, at 20 to 1, in third place.

He will go to Sidney on Saturday, instead of speaking in the Margaret Jenkins School, as he had planned.

Mr. Best is, however, on his way to England, and will not be available until early in October, consequently the quarterly board of the church has requested Dr. Saunby to continue his pastorate until the coming of his successor. To this Dr. Saunby has consented, and all departments of church work will go forward as usual.

SAYS PEOPLE OF U.S. OVERESTIMATE NAVY

Admiral Fiske States They Exaggerate Superiority Over Japan

Retired Officer's Letter to Secretary of Navy is Made Public

New York, June 4 — Rear-Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, retired, in a letter to Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, which he made public last night, called attention to the present comparative strength of the United States and Japanese fleets for operations in Far Eastern waters, which he said was gravely misunderstood by the public.

"Possibly if our people were told the truth about the naval situation, they would not be as indifferent as they are to the diplomatic situation," the letter said.

"Of course I do not mean to suggest," said the admiral, "that war is even possible; but nevertheless it may be pointed out that the Japanese and the Americans have taken attitudes that are irreconcilable and that the Japanese have virtually broken off diplomatic relations, giving their Ambassador a 'vacation.' Such attitudes and acts have usually preceded wars, though they have not always been followed by wars."

Though the people of the United States imagine, he said, that as a result of the naval treaty the United States fleet is superior to the Japanese navy in the ratio of five to three, "this is the reverse of the truth."

Even if the United States navy were superior in capital ships, he asserted, it is far from being superior in that ratio in active personnel, and it is far "inferior" in reserves.

"If Japan should go to the extreme of taking the Philippine Islands and thus force us into war," the letter added, "we should find ourselves in a deplorable condition because of the lack of trained men as well as of other requisites."

French Actors Refuse to Appear In Bathing Suits

Paris, June 4.—Just because bathing suites are the prescribed attire for actors in the second act of "Nicolle and Her Virtue," the company of the Comedie Francaise, France's great national theatre, threatens to be disrupted.

M. Granval has already resigned from the company and others are threatening to follow his example rather than expose their limbs to Parisian audiences.

WELSH SOCIETY

The Welsh Society will hold its regular meeting Wednesday in Harmony Hall, Fort Street. A fine programme is being prepared, which will include vocal and instrumental music. Refreshments will be served, dance music will be provided also. It is also planned to complete the arrangements for the reception to the Welsh sailors who will be visiting with the Imperial fleet this month, and which will be held in connection with the annual bazaar and sale of work at the home of Mrs. Griffith at the Gorge. The committee hope that all Welsh residents will assist them in making this event a great success.

DENIES CHARGES IN OLIVER LETTER

Returning Officer Answers Criticism of Rejected Candidate

Returning Officer W. P. Marchant expressed his surprise to-day in connection with the letter of George Oliver in the issue of this paper yesterday.

"Mr. Oliver," Mr. Marchant said, "as also did Mr. Mabon, complained that the nomination did not close until 2 o'clock on Friday, and Mr. Oliver then said nothing about the reason he alleges in his letter to the editor. I told them that the hour was made absolutely clear on the proclamation form issued beforehand, and as to the place of nomination, it was stated in the press on May 29 that the nomination would be held at the sheriffs office at the courthouse. The fact that the candidates and press representatives were present at the hour set is proof that there was no confusion in the minds of those interested in the election.

"Mr. Oliver received his papers a week before the nomination, and could have filed them at any date previous to the nomination day."

URGES ROSE CULTURE AS VALUABLE TO B.C.

Professor F. E. Buck, of the University of British Columbia, addressed the Victoria and District Gardeners' Association last evening, indicating the progress made in horticulture in the past 200 years, and particularly in Canada. He instanced the city of St. Thomas, Ontario, as an example of what horticulture can do for a city.

In the speaker's opinion the foremost organization of its kind was the Rose Society of Great Britain, which had members all over the world. Professor Buck briefly touched on kindred societies and their work. He expressed his satisfaction at the formation of a Canadian gladiolus society as being of value in the cultivation of that beautiful plant.

He said in British Columbia the people were particularly fortunate in possessing such favorable climatic conditions for the cultivation of the rose, but regretted there were not sufficient specialists in rose culture as older countries possessed. He expressed the desire for the establishment of a British Columbia rose society, which, in his opinion, would be an asset to the Province. He recommended it both from a pleasure and commercial standpoint.

One of the best features of recent years, said Professor Buck, was the formation of a Canadian Horticultural Council, with its central offices at Ottawa, from which a subcommittee was formed into a plant registration bureau, established for the protection of the originator of new varieties. Value of new varieties could be judged by the price of $50,000 recently paid for a new strawberry.

An interesting discussion followed.

Speakers in London Urge an Increased Interest in Canada

London, June 4 (Canadian Press Cable)—Fred Ney of Winnipeg, organizer of the Hands Across the Sea and exchange of teachers movement in Canada, who was the principal speaker at a meeting of the Colonial Institute here yesterday afternoon, contrasted the British and French systems of education, especially with regard to citizenship, in the light of a recent visit he made to France. He said it was not an easy thing to develop a sense of responsibility in the schools in Britain but the sense of nationality generated across the Channel was striking. There the name of France was made to live vividly and a real feeling of duty toward their own country was fostered in the schools.

Mr. Ney asked the British people not to be too hard in their judgment if certain signs pertaining to a growing similarity between Canada and the United States were observed. If this similarity continued it would be due to a lack of duty on the part of the people on this side of the ocean toward Canadians, he said.

Prof. W. F. Osborne of the University of Manitoba said he believed it was due to the grace of God and good luck that Canada was now part of the Empire. Canada, he said, was losing the cream of the country to the United States, but he was not afraid of her devotion to the Empire if the people of Great Britain had imagination as to the potentialities and significance of the Empire.

Farmers' Party's Future Promising, Declares Drury

London, Ont., June 4.—Failure of farmers' organizations in the past is no reason why they may not succeed in the future, in the opinion of E. C. Drury, former Premier of Ontario, who delievered an address at the East Middlesex Union picnic at Pond Mills yesterday.

"I believe," he said, "the determination of the farmers of the country, the persistence with which they have adhered to their ideal, will bring about fruition in the very near future. We have brought it about today at Ottawa. What is the ruling group there? The Progressives. We are glad of the accomplishment and hope to go on to better and stronger things. We have not failed. We have learned somewhat from the mistakes of the past, and there is no reason why we should not go on in the future."

Films and Books Attract Double Interest by Public

Film producers are keen to grasp opportunities in discovering the public's desires. A popular book becomes even more popular on the screen and then the book is read more than before. This fact led to the filming of "Truxton King," George Barr McCutcheon's dramatic tale concerning the kingdom of Graustark and the adventures of an American who saves a throne. The Fox star, John Gilbert is said to have equalled his best previous screen effort in this production, which is showing this week at the Playhouse.

There is a plot to overthrow the young Prince, a battle to save the castle, the rescue of an exceptionally attractive girl, portrayed by Ruth Clifford, and, finally, a love interest that wraps itself around all the other details of the story. John Gilbert has not neglected his sword work and, for good measure, he uncovers a high dive from the top of a castle wall into the moat below. The director has given the novel an added perspective, with the lights and shadows deftly contrasted.

There are many bits of comedy, in which little Mickey Moore has a share. Then, too, there is Otis Harlan whose grotesque drollery gets full play in the character of a Cook's Tour Guide.

Motor Lawn Mower Made Keaton's Lawn Barber Hilarious

During the filming of Buster Keaton's new Metro picture, "Sherlock Jr.," which is playing at the Capitol Theatre this week, the comedian hired an aged negro named Willie as caretaker for his studio lawn and garden. In order to make the work as easy as possible for the old fellow, he purchased a motor lawn mower. After the first day's work, Buster asked him how things were going.

"Mistah Keaton," said Willie, "all my life Ah been trying to shove a mower ahead of me through the heavy grass, and now the first day Ah joins the moving pictures one drags me all over the place."

Playhouse Has Comedy Offering in "Bringing up Mother"

A bright little show with an entirely different story to the usual is this week's stage offering at the Playhouse Theatre. It flourishes under the name of "Bringing up Mother" and no one can complain of either the name or the show, for it has just the least bit of pathos mingled with an enormous amount of fun.

The two principal characters are taken by Ernie Petch and Mrs. Thornborrow, who give a vivid representation of two dear folks such as all have known at one time or another, so much so, that when they sit down to the harmonium to sing a little old world song, and sing it well, the applause is hearty.

John Barrymore Coming to Capitol in "Beau Brummel"

One of the greatest announcements yet made to film patrons of this city is the engagement of "Beau Brummel" at the Dominion Theatre next Monday for the entire week. What gives curiosity and expectation a spur is the fact that John Barrymore, America's greatest dramatic actor, has the starring part, and that the screen version is from the Clyde Fitch play, immortalized by Richard Mansfield.

Barrymore is always Barrymore, which means that he can be depended on to give his audiences unfailing dramtic entertainment. But Barrymore in the adaptation of a play that is one of the best in this country means something spectacular and unique.

As "Beau Brummel," the prince of dandies and intimate friend of the Prince of Wales, Barrymore has a role exactly suited to his personality. Impersonating the most vivid personality that ever strode through the social history of England, he gives an unforgettable performance.

The brilliant supporting cast consists of Mary Astor, Willard Louis, Irene Rich, Alec B. Francis, Carmel Myers and others. The direction is by Harry Beaumont, the adaptation by Dorothy Farnum.

Well-trained Seal Creates Merriment in "Galloping Fish"

A trained seal is the latest to attain the dignity of a headline role. Freddie is his name and he carries the weight of the lead in Thomas H. Ince's new comedy, "The Galloping Fish." With Louise Fazenda, Syd Chaplin, Ford Sterling, Chester Conklin, John Steppling, Lucille Ricksen and Truly Shattuck to assist him, he gallops through seven reels of uproariously mirthful situations and emerges after a thrilling flood, the hero who reunites several broken family ties. The Ince picture, which is a First National release, will be shown at the Royal Theatre on Thursday, for an engagement of three days only.

Ince won such success last year with his screen version of "The Hottentot," a comedy starring a horse, which was voted the prize laugh maker of the season, that he decided to offer another animal headliner as a novelty.

The story told in a brief span of twenty-four hours, is of a love lorn young husband, who, after his first quarrel with his bride, wanders into a vaudeville show and happens to view the "Diving Venus" (played by Louise Fazenda) doing a remarkable tank act with her beloved "Freddie," the seal. When "Venus" and her manager try to dodge a sheriff who is trying to attach the seal for an unpaid bill, the young husband unwittingly becomes involved and lives through a series of ridiculous mishaps that wind up with an exciting flood.

D. Andrews directed the picture, the remarkable flood scenes having been made at Yuma, Arizona.

BELIEVE CHICAGO WILL LOSE FIGHT

Ottawa Ministers of Opinion Less Water Will be Drawn From Lake Michigan

Ottawa, June 4 (Canadian Press)—Warm protests against the diversion of water from the Great Lakes by the Chicago Sanitary District were heard in the House of Commons last night.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, declared the "utter callousness" of the proceeding was "becoming more and more brazen and surely we must now realize that any matter of mere words, particularly in the matter of letter writing, is not going to get us anywhere or rescuing us from the position we are in."

Mr. Meighen charged that the district, in lowering the level of the lakes and rivers, was costing millions to shipping and in the upkeep of canals, paid for by the sweat of the Canadian people.

NEVER ADMITTED

Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, gave a review of the question. Canda, he said, had never admitted that Chicago had the right to divert a foot of water from Lake Michigan. The right to divert 4,600 second cubic feet had been granted to Chicago by the United States Secretary of War many years ago. This amount had been increased until now Chicago was diverting 10,000 second cubic feet.

At present there was a controversy going on between Chicago and neighboring states in regard to this water diversion. The Canadian Government had repeatedly protested, maintaining that it had agreed to no diversion and did not intend to. The best information the Government now had was that there was not a very serious likelihood of Chicago being able to maintain its position.

Film Replete With Places in Which Audience Gasps

Fourteen outstanding thrills are reported in "The Midnight Alarm," the Vitagraph special production, which is being shown at the Columbia Theatre this week. These thrills were tabulated by David Smith, the director, in calculating the superior audience value of his greatest picture.

These thrills are so interwoven with bits of romance and pathos and intrigue as to maintain the interest of the spectator at a high point throughout. A spectacular fire scene, a train crash, a near-wreck of a train at a draw bridge, and rescue of the heroine from a vault in a burning building are some of the high spots in this play.

Alice Calhoun, Cullen Landis, Percy Marmont and Joseph Kilgour play the principal roles in this photoplay.

Studio Lights Are Subject of Device Tested on Actors

Gino Corrado, who has a prominent supporting role in the cast of Pola Negri's new Paramount picture, "Men," which is the feature this week at the Dominion Theatre, has discovered an instantaneous cure for the dreaded "Klieg eyes."

Work upon a sequence in "Men" was delayed when some half dozen of the minor players were stricken almost simultaneously with inflammation of the eyes caused by the glare of the lights.

Corrado, who had been experimenting upon the cure for some months, produced a bottle of the liquid and treated the players with the aid of a medicine dropper. Although usually several days are required to affect a cure, the players were able to resume their places within a few minutes of receiving treatment.

"Men," which Dimitri Buchowetzki, the famous Russian director, produced as his first American made picture by Paramount, was written by himself.

C.P.R. WILL BUILD PRAIRIE BRANCHES

Programme of Company is Commended by People of the Plains

Calgary, June 4.—Commendation is given the Canadian Pacific Railway from all sections of the public in connection with company's branch line extension as announced by Vice-President D. C. Coleman.

The Calgary Morning Albertan states:

"It is the answer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which is wise and moderate, to the campaign of pessimism which has made Alberta ridiculous. It is a sound judgment by a very wise corporation."

The Calgary Herald remarks:

"Expenditure of huge sums on railway building at this time is additional proof of the Canadian Pacific's confidence in Alberta. To those who have doubted the future of Southern Alberta, we recommend perusal of Mr. Coleman's statement. . . . The Canadian Pacific is one institution in this country that knows that in Western Canada there can be no going back."

C. R. Mitchell, member of the Provincial Legislature for Bow Valley and former Provincial Treasurer, expresses himself as eminently satisfied with Mr. Coleman's statement. He states that it is the most important announcement for many years, and that the action of the railway company will be greatly appreciated by the many settlers affected.

H. A. Howard, president of the Calgary Board of Trade, and other leading business men expressed their keen satisfaction at the announcement.

SEES CHANGE IN ROUTES FOR GRAIN

Farm Statistician Says More Will be Shipped by Way of B.C. Coast

London, June 4 (Canadian Press Cable).—"Although in 1923 Canada reaped the most abundant harvest on record, the returns to the Canadian farmers were disappointing," said E. H. Godfrey, head of the agricultural statistics division of the Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa, in a paper read on his behalf before the Farmers' Club here yesterday. The paper was a study of costs of production on Canadian farms and the conveyance of produce to ports in Britain.

"This disappointment," Mr. Godfrey continues, "was due largely to the general excellence of the wheat crop throughout the world, which had the effect of reducing the price. This is a rare occurrence and we may look for a rise in price when world conditions of wheat revert to normal."

Dealing with fresh outlets for Canadian grain, Mr. Godfrey declared the Panama Canal was likely to have an important influence in shortening the land haul from a large part of Western Canada. He also pointed out that the Hudson's Bay route had received the approval of successive Governments.

The United States, he added, had apparently reached the limit of wheat production, while in Canada, where vast areas of fertile land still awaited the plough, agricultural production must continue annually to increase.

PAUSE IN ALBERTA DEVELOPMENT PLAN

Ottawa, June 4.—Spray Lakes development was before the House last night on estimates of the Department of the Interior.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Conservative, Vancouver Centre, said that when estimates were last under consideration the Minister had given an assurance that nothing would be done on the Spray Lakes development proposal until next year. He understood the Department of the Interior had received further communications and protests since then. He hoped the Minister would give an assurance to the committee that his statement, when the last estimates were up, still held good.

Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, replied there was nothing new in this matter except that the Premier of Alberta had made a formal application for the Spray Lakes reservoir. The assurance he had given still held good.

In answer to E. J. Garland, Progressive, Bow River, Mr. Stewart stated it was the intention to carry on a certain amount of irrigation work in Alberta this year by small parties.

INDUSTRIES AND POPULATION AWAITING OUR CALL

BRITISH COLUMBIA employs 5,000 garment workers. But only 384 of them live in this Province.

British Columbia employs 3,600 workers making footwear. But only 400 of them live in this Province.

British Columbia employs 1,000 workers in flour mills. But only 250 of them live in this Province.

Similar returns come from other industries. British Columbia is calling for population and industries. The question then arises from the foregoing: Why not bring to this Province more of the workers and industries such as those mentioned here and others which the people of this Province are supporting?

Such a proposal is put before the people of Victoria, Vancouver and every city and settlement in the Province by those behind the Home Products or Made in B.C. campaign which is now being conducted.

How great is the amount we send out of this Province for goods which can be just as well produced here to build up our own communities is little realized. Last year British Columbia buyers imported from foreign countries manufactured goods in direct competition with those from B.C. industries to the value of $36,000,000. Besides, there were agricultural imports from foreign countries totalling $3,395,453, and agricultural imports from other Provinces of Canada to the amount of $15,662,678. That gives a total of $55,058,131.

Of this $55,058,131, no less than $27,500,000 went in wages to foreign workers. Those are wages that should have come to British Columbia labor. That $27,500,000 would have employed 14,000 more workers in British Columbia, of which 3,500 would have been on Vancouver Island.

Increase in the purchases of home products would help lighten our taxes considerably. Of the ultimate selling value of any article produced in British Columbia, 50 per cent. goes as a direct contribution to labor, while 18 per cent. goes in the three forms of taxation—Municipal, Provincial and Dominion.

It is estimated that a preference of only ten cents a day more than at present for home products by citizens of British Columbia would mean an addition of $10,000,000 to the payroll of the Province.

These things are worth thinking of and remembering when we are doing our buying.

LABOR LAMB AND THIRD PARTY LION

IN two ridings, Rossland-Trail and Nelson, the Provincials have nominated men whom they announce as Provincial-Labor candidates. The only appreciable effect of this move so far, however, has been to delight the Liberal and Conservative nominees who will get labor votes which they could not get under ordinary circumstances. The labor men of these two districts might vote strongly for a straight labor man, but they are not enthusiastic about a candidate who preaches the labor doctrine in one breath and in the next endorses General McRae's record, directly antagonistic to the aspirations of labor.

Premier Oliver has likened the attempt to herd labor into the McRae fold to the historic experience of the lamb who lay down with the lion—and awakened inside his affectionate bedfellow. That, indeed, is precisely what happened to the Farmer Party which seemed to have a fairly bright future until General McRae hurried into the Interior, announced himself as its prophet and calmly absorbed it. This remarkable feat has not escaped the notice of the workingman and he has no particular desire to be absorbed by General McRae.

GOLF'S CONQUEST OF CANADA

HOW the popularity of golf has swept across Canada is indicated by the latest statistics on the game which show that there are now 352 recognized clubs in the larger centres. Besides these there are many clubs in small towns and new ones being opened this season which are not yet included in the golfing blue book. This means that there are to-day at least 400 clubs in Canada, with probably 100,000 players.

Four years ago there were only 120 clubs.

Out on this Coast the proportion of clubs and golfers to the population is considerably higher than it is in the East as golf here is an all-year game, while in other parts of Canada it is limited pretty much to two of the four seasons. In Victoria we scarcely need to be reminded of the vogue of the game as we see and hear evidences of it in our daily contacts everywhere.

The foregoing figures have been brought out in connection with the celebration by The Canadian Golfer of its tenth anniversary. It was one of the first golfing publications to be established on this contient and has since kept pace with the expansion of the game. It celebrates its anniversary with an intensely interesting special number, which contains congratulations from leading golfers, including Sir Robert Borden and Harry Vardon.

THE AEROPLANE HARE

CAPTAIN D'OISY, the French Paris-to-Tokio flyer, to-day reached within a couple of flying hours of his objective in his dash half-way around the world, across the two continents of Europe and Asia.

The American round-the-world flyers to-day reached Shanghai. Major MacLaren, the British flyer, is still held up near Rangoon where his machine crashed on May 24.

D'Oisy is only on a short hop compared with the other flyers and could therefore take chances in making speed which the British and Americans could not afford to take. But even at that it has taken D'Oisy forty-one days to cover the distance between Paris and Tokio.

The British have now been out seventy days and the Americans seventy-eight. Both these totals include delays caused by unforseen accidents. Before his crash in India MacLaren had to wait for a new engine from England. The Americans were held up nearly two weeks in waiting for Major Martin when he was lost after crashing into a mountain in Alaska.

Jules Verne in 1872 wrote his imaginative story "Around the World in Eighty Days." The aeroplanes have already taken almost that length of time and have not got half way. In 1889 Nellie Bly actually made the trip in seven days less than the time suggested by Jules Verne's fancy. In 1913, John Henry Mears, of The New York Sun, accomplished the feat in thirty-six days, using an aeroplane only once, and that for a fifteen-mile trip.

If one is in a hurry to get around the world, the slower, snail-like steamship and the railway train, both of which run twenty-four hours a day and with little regard to weather or season, are still by long odds a better bet than the hare-like flying machine. But before this generation passes on the tables may be turned. This is the aeroplane's first attempt.

PAVEMENT PARKING MUST BE STOPPED

PARKING of motor cars on the paved parts of the highways leading out of Victoria will have to be stopped as it has been on the Mainland of British Columbia and other parts of this continent, if accidents and disruption of traffic are to be avoided.

This prohibition of pavement parking has become necessary as a result of the great growth of automobile traffic, especially noticeable on holidays like yesterday and at week-ends.

Thoughtless drivers here have the habit of leaving their cars standing on the pavement of busy highways instead of turning the cars right off to the side of the road. The result is that all traffic is slowed up quite needlessly and cars in turning out to pass a standing motor interfere with traffic coming in the opposite direction. Our paved highways are not wide enough to accommodate comfortably more than two cars abreast. The danger consists in drivers, when turning out around a parked car, not being able to see cars coming in the opposite direction and in drivers of cars bound in the opposite direction having a car suddenly loom in front of them from behind a parked car.

On the Pacific Highway leading south from Vancouver to the international boundary the rule against parking on the paved part of the road is strictly enforced. Recently motorcycle police have been on duty to catch offenders and a number have been fined.

The same rule will have to be put into force on the Island for the safety and convenience of all motorists.

Some bobbed hair styles are getting so original that it is now being referred to as woman's clowning glory.

A meeting of naval veterans passed a resolution of censure on Ottawa for refusing to give a local committee here $35,000 or more from the Dominion Treasury with which to entertain visiting sailors. What would Victoria people think of a Government that would hand over to a local committee at Quebec, for instance, a large sum of money to be used to entertain visitors as the local committee saw fit? There would be an avalanche of criticism to face in the House of Commons from all other parts of the country. As far as the visiting British squadron is concerned, the Dominion Government has announced that it itself will officially entertain the officers and men as they should be received here on behalf of the Government, even going so far as to give 250 of them a free trip to the Canadian prairie cities. Government plans are now under way and officials are coming from Ottawa to the Coast to carry out the important duties.

When one thinks of the vast folly displayed in human history, it is easy to despise human nature; but when one thinks of the vast number of individuals who, with little money, little education, little ability, nevertheless put up a brave front and meet the day's work with uncomplaining serenity, then it is impossible not to see that human nature is sublime.

Dr. Frank Crane on "Keep Moving"

(Copyright)

KEEP MOVING! You are not so liable to get hit.

This bit of philosophy comes from the capricious Douglas Fairbanks, who recently spoke to the Boy Scouts.

The advice is not only good for boys. It is good for men and women.

Everybody has someone eventually who throws things. If you are still they get a good aim at you and the result is liable to be a beaner.

But if you are moving lively all the time you get nor more than a glancing blow.

The strange thing about life is the enemies we make. Books on success will tell you all about that. In any kind of prominence, if you get any sort of money or place, somebody will throw stones at you.

It is a singular thing that no matter how many you have helped on your way up, no matter what your charity or good disposition, when you reach a certain height you always have the inferiority complex digging away and somebody is likely to take a shot at you.

Among the blessings of the poor it should not be omitted to state that the poor man has no enemies.

There are those who would honor General Grant and lay wreaths upon the tomb of the dead Wilson, who would have been glad to put stumbling blocks in their way while living, or administer kicks behind.

If you are not destined to great things therefore, or to prominence, keep moving.

There is no place like somewhere else in the dictionary of the rich. This maxim is not only applicable in high circles but in low for, be thou chaste as ice and pure as snow, we have it upon good authority that thou shalt not escape calumny.

The handsomer your face, therefore, and the more lovely your form, the more dangerous it is to sit down.

The more popular your appeal, and the more your fellowmen gather around you to elect you to the House or other dignity, the more necessity there is to keep moving.

Most people fail, and the thing most dependable in the common mass is envy.

The only successful man is the man who does nothing to attract the attention of his fellows and keeps steadily out of the spotlight.

There is some line of poetry to the effect that the bolt which passes by the humble bush lays the proud monarch of the forest low.

Champlain Dicovers Ottawa

ON June 4, Champlain, the founder of New France, halted in his toilsome journey up the Ottawa River long enough on the site of the present capital of the Dominion of Canada to enjoy the beauty of the spot. In his journal he describes the place minutely, the mouth of the Gatineau River of the many rapids, the Rideau Falls just opposite where the Rideau River leaps out from the cliff into the Ottawa, the Chaudiere Falls, a little further up the Ottawa where the whirlpool seethed, the pine-clad heights now crowned with the Parliament Buildings of Canada. Little could he have guessed the vicissitudes in store for the colony he was founding, or that here should be spread two hundred and fifty years later the city which would be the administrative heart of a country which would stretch from the Atlantic, which he knew so well, to the Pacific which he was seeking along the labryinthine waterways of the West, and that this country would include as fellow-citizens both the French and their heretic enemies the English.

It was a very beautiful, very impressive spot, as many a voyageur was later to testify. No doubt the sun threw similar rainbows on the Rideau Falls—the "Curtain Falls"—as later caught the eye of the trader Henry. Champlain's Indians ran laughing under the curtain of water, for its jump left a spacious and exciting passageway.

It is not so beautiful to-day as then, this spot, for the rude, insensitive hand of industry has been laid upon it, and the Curtain Falls is disfigured with dams and sawmills, the lovely cedar- and pine-clothed shore just facing it has been denuded and then blasted with the factories of Hull, the Chaudiere Rapids have been fitted with great log chutes, and the cliffs of Ottawa are suffering the indignities which only modern cities can heap upon the masterpieces of Nature. And yet who can ever forget that splendid panorama who has stood on Parliament Hill or at the edge of the precipice at Rockcliffe.

NOTWITHSTANDING its compensations of scenic charm this journey of Champlain's was perhaps his most disappointing in the New World. In France, the Autumn previous, he had met a young French adventurer named Nicolas de Vignau, who had been in New France and had spent the Winter of 1611-1612 there. He had sought out Champlain to tell him that he had gone far enough North to come out upon a great salt sea and that he had found there on the shore the wreckage of an English ship that had been lost on this coast, on which there had been eighty men who escaped to the land, whom the savages had killed, because these Englishmen wished to take their Indian corn and other provisions by force; and he had seen their heads, which these savages had scalped, which they wished me (Champlain) to see, and also to give me a young English boy whom they had kept for me. Vignau added confirmatory details and descriptions which completely convinced the by-no-means-credulous Champlain.

The latter had made his voyage of 1613 from France solely for the purpose of penetrating to Hudson Bay, as he supposed this inland sea must be, for he had heard within recent months of Henry Hudson's tragic venture there. Up the difficult Ottawa he toiled with Vignau and three other Frenchmen till, at Allumette Island, opposite the present city of Pembroke, Ontario, he came up on the home of the Greater Algonquins. Their chief, Tessouat, who had met Champlain ten years before at Tadousac, welcomed him, gave a feast in his honor and held a council at which Champlain opened up his project of proceeding to the great inland sea to the northward. He cited Vignau as authority, whereupon the Indians, knowing that Vignau had never left their lodges, or at least their company, all through the Winter of his stay in Canada, fiercely called him liar and made to fall upon him and split his head. Vignau, after a sorry attempt to brazen it out, confessed that the whole story was mere fabrication to gain him glory at home and to get him back to Canada, for he had never thought that Champlain would really succeed in penetrating thus far.

The patient, forbearing Champlain was for once moved to terrible wrath. However, he protected the culprit from the rage of the Indians and eventually pardoned him after his public confession on board the ship of the company which they met at Montreal. Greatly chagrined that he had thus been taken in, Champlain turned back to France.

TWENTY-FIVE JAPANESE M.P.'S CONDEMN POLICY

Meet to Protest Against American Exclusion of Japanese Immigrants

A resolution condemning the exclusion clause in the American immigration bill as "deeply injuring our national susceptibilities" was adopted by twenty-five members of both houses of the Diet at a meeting held in the Sanantei restaurant, Shiba, Tokio, the day before the President Madison, which arrived here yesterday, left Yokohama for this coast.

While declaring that the bill as passed by Congress attacks the cordial relations existing between Japan and America, the resolution declared those present would do everything in their power to restrain intemperate expressions of Japanese public resentment against the law. It was still hoped, the resolution declared, that a means might be found to prevent the enactment of the bill into law.

SAYS HISTORY DISREGARDED

The full text of the resolution follows:

"WHEREAS, notwithstanding the traditional friendship uniting Japan and America for many years, expressed not only in treaties making for the surer preservation of the general peace but by the increasing co-operation of the two countries for the promotion of the rules of right in the entire Pacific region, and further, in complete disregard of the whole history and the spirit of the Gentlemen's Agreement, which Japan has announced her readiness to modify, the United States has seen fit to pass an immigration bill containing a clause that injures deeply our national susceptibilities, therefore, be it now,

"RESOLVED, that we members of both houses of the Diet, here assembled, do record our profound sorrow that discriminatory legislative action by the American Congress should have attacked so harshly the cordial relations between Japan and America, and be it further

"RESOLVED, that, although the public temper in Japan which, up to the present, in spite of this thial, has remained calm might give way to its feelings of natural resentment, it shall be our policy to do everything we can to restrain such intemperate expression, and in this resolve we are supported by our hope that means may still be found to check the enactment of this Bill into law."

The resolution was cabled to Secretary Hughes.

The meeting, which was organized by Kotaro Mochizuki, Kenseikai member of the House, was the first held by members of the new Diet for discussion of the immigration question. Mr. Mochizuki delivered an address.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH BIBLE CLASS HELD ENJOYABLE PICNIC

The fourth consecutive annual picnic of the Pas-a-Pas Young Ladies' and the Onwego Young Men's Bible Classes of First Presbyterian Church was held yesterday at Mount Douglas Park. There was an exceptionally good turnout, forty-five members sitting down to supper. While Mrs. McKillop, leader of the Pas-a-Pas was unavoidably absent, R. G. Howell, the veteran leader of the Onwegos, was on hand as usual.

Cars packed with merry picnickers left the city soon after 1.30 p.m., others following at 6.30 o'clock. Group games were enjoyed and a "Treasure Hunt" was also staged, Mount Douglas being the scene of operations. The prize, an eversharp pencil, was won by Miss May Murie. Following this exciting and mirthful search for hidden lore, basketball and light refreshments were much enjoyed. At 7 o'clock the party sat down to a most delicious supper served by the young ladies of the Pas-a-Pas. After the repast an adjournment was made to the beach, where a huge bonfire had been prepared. Songs, speeches and stories were all greatly enjoyed. A few words from Mr. Howell thanking the ladies for their attendance and their co-operation in making it possible to put on this outing every year, brought to a close a picnic which was equal, if not superior, to any of the many similar functions held by these two groups of young people.

SOUTH PARK PUPIL WINNER OF I.O.D.E. ESSAY CONTEST

Announcement is made of the award of the second prize in the Sarah Maxwell competition conducted by the I.O.D.E. to Miss Florence Boyce, of the seventh grade at South Park School. This competition for an essay on "Heroism" is open to children under thirteen years of age in all the capital cities of the Dominion. Last year the first prize was awarded to Miss Mona Bjornsfeldt, who was also a pupil of South Park School.

The announcement of the award was sent to Miss A. B. Cooke, Provincial educational secretary of the order. The competition is held in memory of Sarah Maxwell, a brave teacher who gave her life while trying to save seventeen children at a school fire in Montreal.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried pepsin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate or milk, but the pure Bisurated Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or three compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, dumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little Bisurated Magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and moreover, the continued use of the Bisurated Magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

CHILD IMMIGRATION SCORED BY SOCIAL SERVICE WORKER

National I.O.D.E. Hears Strong Indictment of Policy of "Well-Known Home"

Toronto, June 4.—"Most of the juvenile immigrants from the British Isles who are children of unmarried parents are sent out here by a certain prominent institution," declared Miss Charlotte Whitton, Ottawa, in addressing the annual convention of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire here yesterday afternoon on child welfare work.

Miss Whitton leveled innumerable strictures at this "certain institution" saying: "That institution is continuing to force those children on this Dominion. The women of Canada should not tolerate the gross imposition of this 'well known home.'"

Between the Provincial Governments and the Federal Department, there was an utter lack of co-operation on the question of immigration, she said. Responsible authorities in Quebec alone said they already had 15,657 dependent children on their hands. They had such large families, they were unable to take in more children.

JUVENILE IMMIGRATION

Juvenile immigration, she said, was not a natural social procedure. Usually it was the result of a grave social complex in the source of immigration.

As far as Canada was concerned it was largely a question if immigration from the British Isles. It was a question whether these children were merely being brought from the factory benches of England to farm labor in Canada. Generally, these children were dependent institutional children, and there was a decided minority from poor homes in overcrowded centres of population.

Miss Whitton quoted J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., of Winnipeg, to the effect that the poorest home in Canada was, for these children, palatial compared to the ones left in England.

CHILD WELFARE

The provincial chapters were practically active in child welfare work. In British Columbia one chapter alone spent $12,000 in providing milk for undeveloped school children.

The treasurer presented a report showing a surplus of $370,424.25 in estimates, bank balances and other interests, including $331,507.78 to the credit of the War Memorial Fund. Disbursements were $35,820.95 for the year.

"Echoes," the national organ of the order, was reported to have reached a sound basis with a subscription list of 9,308, and a profit of $234.10 for the year.

PROVINCIAL WORK

Work as summarized from the provinces included home placing and advanced legislation for the children, purchase of books and pictures for the schools, Northern Ontario fire relief, care of tubercular patients and of children in the homes during illness of the mother. The outstanding work, educationally, is the war memorial giving secondary and higher education to the sons and daughters of dead or disabled soldiers and sailors. For this, the sum of $16,461.53 had been spent during the year.

The organizing secretary reported one new provincial chapter, Quebec; thirty-two primary chapters, two childrens' chapters and fourteen new life members.

BEAUTIFUL IVORY GAVEL PRESENTED TO I.O.D.E. CHAPTER

A handsome and unique gavel of solid Yukon ivory was presented to Mrs. R. B. McMicking, regent of the Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., at its meeting on Monday. The gavel was the gift of Mrs. Lawson, formerly of the Yukon Chapter and recently transferred to the Lady Douglas Chapter. It will be suitably engraved and will be treasured as an interesting souvenir by the chapter.

Mrs. Colin Cummins was welcomed back from California and was made an honorary member of the chapter. A donation was made of $5 to the gymkhana prize fund, and members were appointed to assist with the sale of tickets on June 19 at the I.O.D.E. rooms.

Final preparations were completed for the garden party which is to be held under the auspices of the chapter at "Arran," the home of Judge and Mrs. McIntosh, on Tuesday June 10.

BERRY PICKING IS EARLIER THIS YEAR

Dry Weather Advances Season; Pickers Needed at Once

The weather conditions, if they continue during the week, will have the effect of the ripening of the strawberry crop one week ahead of last year.

Last year the harvesting of a heavy crop took every available picker, women, girls and boys. The work of gathering the berries extended well into July, and the school girls and boys had a large share in this local and seasonal industry.

This year, unfortunately for the supply of pickers, schools will be in session past the height of the picking, and the students will not have their accustomed share in the strawberry harvest. It is, therefore, necessary to enroll and adult registration, and though women and girls have been the favorite pickers during the past seven years, young men and boys are becoming more adaptable in this work and their registration will secure them the work.

The harvest of the strawberry crop presents the big problem. Over and above the gathering of the other fruits, this crop takes more pickers per acre than do the other fruits grown on the Saanich peninsula.

During the past two or three years the acreage of small fruits has greatly increased, which fact will have the effect of stabilizing fruit picking as a local industry, for it means that the time of picking beyond the strawberry crop will be extended by one month or six weeks.

Registration of pickers will be carried on during this week and part of next. The growers voice the opinion that the demand for their pickers to be on the strawberry patches will be started June 9 or 10, and that by June 14 every available picker will be in demand.

Registration as in previous years is being made at the women's branch of the Employment Service, and all information will be given, as to camping conditions, means of transportation of campers and daily pickers.

GONZALES CHAPTER

The general monthly meeting of Gonzales Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held at headquarters on Tuesday at 10.30 a.m. Mrs. Genge, the regent, was in the chair and thirteen members were present. The treasurer's report was read showing a bank balance of $800.63. Mrs. McRae read an interesting report of the municipal meeting. The meeting endorsed the executive's action in appointing Mrs. de Pentier as their delegate at the national chapter's meeting in Toronto. A notice of motion, presented from the municipal chapter, was put to the meeting and passed. It was shown that the local secondary educational plan could be much improved both from the side of practical benefits to students and the side of financial economy. The chapter has undertaken to sell box seats tickets for the forthcoming gymkhana on June 26 and 27. A vote of censure was passed on the attitude of the B.C. Electric Company for not allowing Victoria the same privileges as allowed to Vancouver during the fleet's visit, and a petition was forwarded to the Municipal Chapter to deal with the matter.

At St. Stephen's Church, Saanichton, on Monday at noon, Rev. J. A. Bastin united in marriage Marjorie Helen, youngest daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Scott of Estevan, Sask., and Mr. Hugh Morris Birch-Jones, eldest son of Mr. Birch-Jones of William Head. The bride, smartly attired in a traveling suit of pearl gray broadcloth with hat to match, carried a bouquet of bridal roses and was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. A. J. Milligan. She was attended by her sister, Miss Gladys Scott, who wore an imported French dress of orange crepe, with black picture hat draped with Chantilly lace, and carried a bouquet of cream sweet peas. Mr. Eric Birch-Jones, brother of the groom, acted as best man. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Milligan. The happy couple left on the afternoon train for a honeymoon up the Island.

A wedding of much interest in Victoria was celebrated at Henderson Presbyterian Church, Burnaby, on Monday when Edith Esther Germaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wood, Burnaby Lake, became the bride of Professor Herbert Read Christie, head of the forestry department of the University of British Columbia. Mrs. Christie was a popular member of the registrar's staff at the University. The bride was given away by her father, who is secretary of the Burnaby School Board. Mis Mildred Wood, a sister, was bridesmaid. The groom was supported by Mr. M. A. Grainger, with whom he was formerly associated in the provincial forestry office at Victoria. While the register was being signed Miss Hazel Lewis sang delightfully. Miss Archibald being the accompanist. Rev. A. C. Cameron, minister of the Henderson Church, officiated. After a honeymoon in California, Professor and Mrs. Christie will reside in Vancouver.

Queen to Receive New Memorial Home Erected by Women

London, June 4 (Canadian Press cable)—Queen Mary will on July 10 receive from the representatives of the British Women's Hospital and turn over to the governors, the completed Star and Garter Home for Disabled Soldiers and Sailors at Richmond. The building has been erected by the generosity of British women at home, in India, the British Dominions and Colonies throughout the world, to form the women's memorial of the Great War.

NEW SUFFRAGE BILL WOULD GIVE MUCH POWER TO WOMEN

Women Voters in Britain Will Outnumber Men; Press Comment

London, June 4.—The eventual passage of the Adamson Bill, fixing the voting age for women at twenty-one years, is generally taken for granted. As the women voters in Great Britain will considerably outnumber the men in that event, the potential result will be that the destinies of the country would for the first time be placed in the hands of its women, but the prospect seems to be viewed without concern.

The press comment thus far has not been universal, but the four London newspapers commenting upon the subject to-day raised no protest.

The Daily Mail's comment is noncommittal, regarding that equalization of voting capacity carries vast consequences which seemingly can not yet be grasped. The newspaper foresees that the women among other things will claim a much larger proportion of appointments to the departments of state and steadily dislodge the men. It hopes that they will show a better record of management than the men have done.

The Daily News thinks that the proposed widening of the women's franchise is right and reasonable, and it sees no reason to suppose that the young women will use their privilege less wisely than the young men.

The Daily Express believes the change to be reasonable, logical and in the interests of the highest good of the commonwealth.

The Daily Graphic while opposed to granting suffrage to any one at the age of twenty-one, sees no reason why the women would exercise it less efficiently than the men. The paper professes to be in no wise alarmed at the prospect of the women voters outnumbering the men.

PRESS ORGANIZATION GROWS IN STRENGTH

President Delivers Address at Annual Meeting of Canadian Press

Tells Delegates in Vancouver About Rearrangement of Expenditure

Vancouver, June 4.—In his address at the annual meeting of the Canadian Press here to-day, E. Norman Smith, of The Ottawa Journal, the president, said:

"It is three and a half years since I was first elected to the presidency of your organization. Each of these years has been marked by something in the nature of a crisis in which its continued existence as a national entity seemed to be endangered. But the problem of the year has on each occasion been studiously and determinedly tackled by your board of directors and the management and a solution found. The problems that faced us early in the year just closed were perhaps the most serious and the most threatening of all. Grave obstacles obstructed and lowering clouds hid the path. There were many months when the most optimistic among us grew depressed.

PROMISE OF PROGRESS

"Imagine with what gratification it is that I am able to tell you we have come through this greatest crisis as we came through the others; that we have triumphed over our difficulties; and that not only is The Canadian Press to continue as a national organization, but that never before was it as strong nationally, never before was the promise of its progress toward the goal set by its founders so assured.

"At least this non-profit making company of daily newspaper publishers is freed from even the suspicion of control by outside influences; at last we have the true spirit of co-operation among our members, east and west; at last we have such reserves of power that even the suggestions of possible disintegration must appear absurd.

AT OTTAWA SESSION

"As you all know, at the 1923 session of the Parliament of Canada, an attack was made on the annual grants to The Canadian Press of $50,000 for the leased wires across the three sparsely settled gaps and $8,000 toward the supplementary cable service from Britain. Your management heard that an attack was coming but, having in mind the unsavory flavor this governmental assistance had to many of our members, the only step taken to meet it was to provide the Prime Minister and the Minister of Finance with a memorandum explaining fully and clearly the original reasons for these grants and the manner in which the money had been spent from year to year. The attack was participated in by only two members of Parliament and the grants were defended on the ground of national advantage by both Mr. Mackenzie King and Mr. Fielding.

WOULD HAVE DECLINED

"The two items went through Parliament, but at the close of the session we were notified that the grants would not be renewed the following year. Even if we had not been so notified, I believe our board of directors would have found it necessary to recommend you to decline the grants in the future so the company would never again be in the position where it could be made the subject of such irresponsible and slanderous statements.

AN ADDITION

"In comparison with other burdens Parliament had imposed upon the daily newspapers of Canada in recent years, including increased postal rates and sales tax on newsprint, involving many hundreds of thousands of dollars, the $58,000 which thus had to be absorbed was a small amount. But it was an addition to an over-load and the temptation to chuck it was great. To drop the leased wires between the east and the west—wires that run for hundreds of miles through a 'No Man's Land'—would have materially reduced the opportunities for the interchange of news, information, and opinion between the widely spread peoples, and the national disabilities and dangers growing from out that no one can estimate. But the newspapers, it was recalled, existed before The Canadian Press and before there were leased news wires, and if Parliament thought so lightly of the value of the leased wires and of the direct British cable connection, was there any particular reason why the newspapers should retain them? Some of us thought what a nice thing it would be to give an object lesson to loquacious members of Parliament on the futility of winged words that wouldn't fly—into newspaper offices. There was also the seductive argument that the abandonment of the leased wires and British cable service would affect all the newspapers more or less alike, and inasmuch as circulation could be secured on other accounts than telegraph news, what mattered if some of the outside stuff was left out? There were a few who expressed the opinion that The Canadian Press had been a little too sensitive or squeamish about Government grants, and who said that if we went after a renewal of these grants they believed the Government would accede to the unanswerable arguments in favor of them; but there was always an overwhelming majority to applaud and support the emphatic opinion of your president and board of directors, that never again should this company of The Canadian Press accept Government grants to defray the cost of news services.

STRONGER THAN EVER

"Gentlemen, members of the company of The Canadian Press, your national organization, I repeat, was never so strong as it is to-day. Your several divisions have approved of the methods recommended by your directors for absorbing the $58,000 Government grants and the leased wires through the wilderness and the British cable service are to be retained. The Ontario and Quebec division, the newspapers of which, if you eliminate sentiment and idealism and public service, could more easily than others have done without these leased wires, has placed itself unanimously on record through the inspiration of our good friend, Mr. Lyon of The Toronto Globe and Mr. Dingman of The St. Thomas Times-Journal, representative of the smaller newspapers, as in favor of an enduring policy looking to the maintenance of The Canadian Press as a national organization on a truly co-operative basis for the mutual advantage of its members and the people in every section of Canada.

SUPPORT OF A. P.

"And, last but not least, that great co-operative organization The Associated Press of the United States, whose methods and ideals we have copied and followed, had defined in a new long-term contract that the basis of the relationship between our two organizations is the national co-operative character of each, and made it clear that it will not be a party to anything that detracts from the continent-wide scope of The Canadian Press.

"The longer I am intimately associated with the operations of this company, the longer I am in a position to study the problems and requirements of the individual newspaper publisher in all parts of the Dominion, the stronger grows my conviction that to all our members small and large The Canadian Press has a value so great that it cannot be estimated. That value comes to it because and only because of its truly national character, and it is unthinkable that any step should ever be permitted that would destroy or even undermine that national character."

Premier King to Make Statement About Japanese

Ottawa, June 4.—The question of Japanese immigration came up in the House of Commons last night when Hon. H. H. Stevens drew the Premier's attention to an answer given to a question of his on Monday. That answer stated that Japan agreed last year to restrict the number of Japanese coming to Canada as domestic servants or agricultural workers to 150 annually and was so worded that it read that 150 was the annual quota of Japanese allowed to enter Canada. Mr. Stevens pointed out that the "Gentleman's Agreement" specified several classes of Japanese immigrants, of which agricultural and domestic workers were only one. For instance, "contract labor" might cover a wide field.

Mr. Stevens asked if the Government was aware that dispatches from Tokio conveyed the impression the Japanese Government had claimed the right to repudiate the "Gentleman's Agreement" where it affected immigration to Canada and Mexico, because these countries had only been included on account of their proximity to the United States. The United States having changed its law with regard to Japan, that country had announced its intention to ignore its agreement with regard to contiguous countries.

The Premier promised to look into the matter of the reply given to the first question. He was under the impression the "Gentleman's Agreement" referred to agricultural and domestic workers.

As for the Tokio dispatches, he did not believe Japan would try to evade an agreement with Canada because some other country had changed its laws. He would, however, inform the House of every phase of the question.

Letters addressed to the Editor and intended for publication must be short and legibly written. The longer an article the shorter the chance of insertion. TELEPHONE DIRECTORY SUGGESTION

To the Editor:—The distribution of a new Telephone Directory by the British Columbia Telephone Company is a reminder of the need of a more legible type in this production. Consideration has been given to economy of production rather than to the comfort and convenience of those who are obliged to consult the book. The columns are too narrow and the type too small and thin. If legibility were given first consideration by the company—which should be the case—the type would be at least two sizes larger and much broader and printed in two columns to a page instead of three. Let us hope that when the next issue comes from the press these improvements will be made. They would be appreciated by ninety per cent of users.

SERVICE

THAT MYSTERIOUS PETITION

To the Editor:—I would like to inform any who are interested in the personnel of this petition that it contains the names of only three persons who were not active members of Centennial Church at the time Dr. Davies came there as supply, and of these three persons one is a trustee of the church and another this trustee's wife.

The petition reads as follows:

"To the Stationing Committee of the British Columbia Conference now in session in the City of Vancouver.

"We, the undersigned members, or were members of Centennial Church, Victoria City, respectfully request the Stationing Committee of the British Columbia Conference to send an ordained minister in full standing from the British Columbia Conference."

It will be noticed that no mention is made of Dr. Davies, but that a member of the B.C. Conference be placed at Centennial.

I wish to state that contrary to an opinion somewhat prevailing, the petition was never presented to the Stationing Committee, since it was neither asked for nor needed.

I am charged by some with trying to have Dr. Davies removed, when as a matter of fact I am the only member of the board who tried to make it possible for the conference to accept him, there being a minister willing to transfer to the Colorado conference, thereby making a vacancy for Dr. Davies in British Columbia. Failing that I offered an alternative plan which was to have the conference appoint a young unmarried ordained member as associate to Dr. Davies.

This latter plan has been successfully applied at the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, owing to conditions similar to Centennial.

My suggestions were turned down both by the final board meeting at Centennial before conference and by the pulpit supply committee.

BLIND LEADERS

To the Editor:—The lecture last Sunday morning by Dr. Clem. Davies on the elections was a great disapointment.

Many were drawn to the Victoria Theatre, Sunday last in the expectation that light at least would be thrown upon some of the dark corners, but came away feeling that Dr. Davies had lost a great opportunity.

Experience has taught us that the party caucus is supreme in all matters affecting legislation. The elected upon entering his duties loses his individuality. He is a mere rubber stamp and there to follow instructions from the invisible force behind that Government.

For Dr. Davies to tell his hearers to give first consideration in marking their ballots to the man and not to the party is to beg the question.

If Dr. Davies understands anything about social relationship under the capitalist system of the political machinery and methods employed, of the very nature of the profit system itself, he would leave the church as many have before him or refrain from advertising and discussing a subject which sooner or later will get him into deep water.

For years in this city I have heard parsons advocate the election of good men to public offices, and this, as a panacea for social ills. For the past thirty-five years we have been electing good men, God-fearing men if you please, and we still have them with us. What is the matter with Premier Oliver? What is the trouble with the Hon. W. J. Bowser? and what have you to say of General Macrae? Surely you are not repudiating these and other Christian men associated with them? To do so would only discredit the influence of the church as a power for good.

Let us then get away from the nauseating postrums which ministers hand us as remedies and recognize the undeniable fact that the system itself is responsible for the ills we are facing and will continue to do so until it is abolished.

The white slave traffic, the drug traffic, the liquor traffic, the wage slave traffic and all other traffics offering big profits are necessary factors to a successful operation of the system itself. The greater the profit in any of these traffics, the greater their control over the Government.

It, of course, would never do to expose these forces to the electorate, they borrow the reputation of a reputable citizen to cloak their iniquities.

So long as we have men and women willing to cover the operations of the invisable Government so long will present conditions continue.

The labor parties the world over are breaking away from the rotten mess, some fine morning they will lift the lid, and what do you think they will find? Graft!! Graft!! Graft!!! and behind all, good men, God-fearing Christian men. How do you account for it?

GAVE UP LIVES TO ADVANCE SCIENCE

Two U.S. Balloonists Killed During Weather Observation Trip

Belleville, Ill., June 4.—Dr. C. Leroy Meisinger, federal meteorologist, and First Lieut. James T. Neely, air pilot, whose mangled bodies and charred balloon were found near Bement, Ill., yesterday, sacrificed their lives for the advancement of science, Scott Field officials declare.

The ill-fated flight of the army balloon S-3, starting from Scott Field late Monday, was to have been the ninth and final in a series of weather observation trips which began March 31.

The observations were directed by the Weather Bureau at Washington and were said to have been the most comprehensive of their kind ever attempted. The resulting data was expected to be of great value in weather forecasting, particularly in predicting storm movements. The information gained from the first eight flights is on file at Scott Field and will be turned over to Weather Bureau officials.

Both men were veterans of the world war and Government officials have prepared to make burial in Arlington Cemetery, Washington, if relatives desire it.

HONGKONG IS GROWING FAST

Well-Known Mariner Arrives From British Colony in South China

After long residence in Hongkong, Captain T. P. Hall is in the city waiting to take steamer by way of the Panama Canal to the Old Country. He is registered at the Empress Hotel.

Captain Hall, who arrived here yesterday afternoon on the liner President Madison, formerly was engaged as a master mariner in the China coastal service, and then accepted a shore berth for the International Paint Company as its Oriental representative. Having six months' leave of absence he decided to occupy it with carrying out a long cherished desire to see the canal.

There has been a wonderful growth in the colony of Hongkong, Captain Hall says, and the great influx of Chinese from the mainland has resulted in a serious housing shortage. The Kowloon Peninsula has also made steady progress, and so rapidly has the colony developed that some change in its status is expected. The Reform Association is an active body seeking a larger measure of governmental control in the affairs of the colony, and with a large number of educated Chinese, it is anticipated that they will desire to share in the administration.

IRRIGATION RATES IN CITY ARE CUT

The drought has increased the difficulties of gardeners considerably, and the announcement from the City Hall of the terms of concession for water rates will be acceptable.

The council through the water commissioner agrees to the fifty per cent rebate on water used for irrigation when taken from a service tap for garden or vacant lots adjacent, such rebate to be effective after the minimum consumption is paid for. Thus a householder using the minimum in his house and then a dollar's worth of water a month on his land will play two dollars under the scheme, which has prevailed since 1917, the first and peak year of increased production in Victoria.

In the case where a separate service is installed on vacant land for irrigation purposes, instead of having a rebate operative after the minimum is used, the rebate this year will be on a straight fifty per cent basis, which is of some advantage to the cultivator, and is an improvement on recent years. The numbers of persons affected by the change is limited.

ECHO IN SENATE OF BRANCH LINE BILLS

Justified in Throwing Out Bills Last Year, Senator McMearns Claims

Ottawa, June 4.—There was an echo in the Senate to-night of the Canadian National branch line bills. The Senate was placed in a peculiar position, said Sir James Lougheed, opposition leader. If they did not criticize or revise legislation they were charged with being a rubber stamp. If they exercised their judgment a section of the press was hostile to them for doing their duty. The country was concerned that the National roads should not be loaded with too much debt and it was entirely the duty of the Senate to give the gravest consideration to the undertaking.

Senator Watson said that when the Senate undertook to throw out the bills of last year he was not surprised at the public being hostile.

Senator McMeans said the Senate was completely justified in its action last year. The proposal to spend nearly $100,000,000 was presented to the Senate on the last day of the session and with no information.

FOUR SUICIDES IN JAPAN REPORTED

But Only One is Proved a Protest Against U.S. Exclusion Law

Letter Found on Body Called Exclusion Decision a Racial Insult

Tokio, June 4—Provincial correspondents of the vernacular newspapers here report four cases of suicide carried out in emulation of the Japanese who slew himself near the ruins of the old United States Embassy building May 31 in protest against United States exclusion of Japanese immigration.

In at least three of the four cases, however, the attributed motive of anti-Americanism is unsubstantiated. The cases are reported from Choshi, Hamamatsu, Odawara and Toyamagahara. In the last named case the police said they found a letter on the body addressed to Cyrus E. Woods, retiring United States Ambassador. They gave out this letter for publication. It mentioned the exclusion measure as a "racial insult" and referred to the "indomitable Japanese spirit."

The tendency of the vernacular press seems to be to interpret each of the cases in a manner supporting the anti-exclusion agitation now current here.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK AHEAD FOR CITY

Mayor Hayward Says Similar Policy in Force as Last Year

Mayor Reginald Hayward spoke to the meeting of the Real Estate Board to-day, following D. A. Macdonald, city controller, saying that at the end of the year 1923 the city owed the bank nothing, and that this year the policy was the same and similar results were looked for by the council. Mr. Hayward lauded the action of the board in selecting for a speaker a man who was so familiar with civic activities and financial conditions, and commended the practical results of such a policy which could not have anything but constructive influence.

The Mayor said that he recognized the value and importance of the board's work and activity in Victoria, and said that it was a factor in keeping the city in its path of progress.

Several new applications for membership in the Real Estate Board have been received, and indications are that the organization will have considerable increase in its numbers, as its popularity and influence is growing.

Several visitors attended the luncheon meeting, listening with marked interest to the remarks of the speakers, and expressing optimism as to the city's future, following the statements of Mr. Macdonald.

NEW CARGO RATES FOR VANCOUVER ARE SUSPENDED

Proposed Increase Referred Back For Review and Adjustment

Royal Commission Does Not Think Judgment Can be Rendered Now

Vancouver, June 4 (Canadian Press)—All angles of the proposed increase of Vancouver Harbor cargo rates was referred back to Ottawa for review and adjustment by the Federal Government to-day.

This conclusion came suddenly when Chairman Turgeon remarked that the evidence in justification of the increase and the evidence against, was so vague and incomplete that the Royal Commission did not think a judgment could be rendered at this time. He said the Alberta government and all concerned would be given an opportunity to present their views at Ottawa before the proper authorities at a time to be determined later. Meantime the new cargo rates which were to become effective September 1 are suspended until a decision is rendered at Ottawa.

CONSERVATIVES LOSE BY MAJORITY OF 99

House Votes Down Amendment For Consistently Maintained Protective Tariff

Ottawa, June 4—The Conservatives moved their amendment to the budget in the House this afternoon. It was proposed by A. J. Doucet, Kent, N.B., and states that the welfare of Canada "requires a consistently maintained protective tariff."

The amendment is the same as Mr. Doucet intended to move on the main budget but was forestalled by the Labor amendment of J. S. Woodsworth.

Mr. Doucet, without any preliminary speech, moved his amendment when the bill to give effect to the tariff changes proposed in the budget came before the House for second reading.

On dividing, the House voted the Conservative amendment down by 135 to 36, a majority of 99.

Two Liberals, H. M. Marler, St. Lawrence-St. George, Montreal, and F. N. McCrae, Sherbrooke, Que., voted with the Conservatives for the amendment. The Liberals, with these exceptions, and all the Progressives, voted against it. William Elliott, South Waterloo, who was the only Progressive to vote against the budget motion to-day, voted with the Government against the Conservative amendment.

DEMPSEY KNOCKS THREE MEN OUT IN THE FIRST ROUND

Los Angeles, June 4.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion in the ring, knocked out three heavyweights for the entertainment of a capacity crowd at Vernon Arena last night.

Only one of the champion's opponents was able to come back for the second round of punishment. Dempsey, coolly and tastefully attired in lavender trunks, laid out his men with ease, grace and precision and incidentally aided in raising an estimated total of $35,000 for the Milk Fund of the Los Angeles Philanthropy and Civics Club, which promoted the card.

Joe Ryan, Los Angeles heavyweigh, and Eli Stanton all went down in the first round.

New York, June 4.—Tex Rickard announced to-day he had abandoned plans to promote two big heavyweight fights this year and would concentrate his efforts either upon a match between Luis Firpo and Harry Wills or a title contest between Wills and Jack Dempsey.

COURT OF APPEAL OPENS SESSION

Death of Late Mr. Justice Eberts Regretted by Colleagues on Bench

Sudden Passing of Jurist Affects Several Cases Pending Judgment

The regret of the B. C Court of Appeal at the passing of the late Mr. Justice Eberts was voiced by Chief Justice Macdonald when the court convened this morning, in a brief but sincere eulogy of the life of the member. His death, concluded the Chief Justice, left behind a sense of personal loss and one that would be felt keenly.

The passing of the late Mr. Justice Eberts affects several judgments pending, and in each case counsel were given the option of rearguing the case if so desirous. The court convened with Mr. Justice Martin, Mr. Justice Galliher, and Mr. Justice McPhillips in attendance on the Chief Justice. Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald will take his seat at the next session of the court, in Vancouver, it was intimated.

APPEAL JUDGMENTS

Judgment in Vancouver hearings were given in twelve cases, and reserved in five others. The reservations were due to the passing of the late Mr. Justice Eberts and the right of counsel to seek a rehearing or accept the majority judgment of the court. The judgments given were as follows:

Rex versus Berdino, dismissed, Mr. Justice McPhillips dissenting.

Rule versus Bradner, allowed.

Re Taxation Act and Anderson Logging Company, dismissed.

Haddock versus Norgan, dismissed.

In re Sproule, allowed.

Isitt versus Hammond, allowed.

Wright versus Bak Bong, dismissed.

Peterson versus Peterson, dismissed, Mr. Justice McPhillips, dissenting.

Birnie Lumber Company versus Leir, allowed.

Townley versus Vancouver City, dismissed, Mr. Justice Martin dissenting.

Rex versus Perro, Attorney-General of Canada versus Gongoles, Rex versus Lee Park, and Keene versus C.P.R. were reserved. In Hornley versus Royal Exchange counsel accepted a majority judgment and the appeal was allowed, Mr. Justice McPhillips dissenting. In Taylor versus McIntosh counsel accepted, and the appeal was dismissed.

Counsel presented a number of motions in relation to the first list for hearing. Rex versus Alberta was transferred to the Vancouver session of the court. In Rex versus Murray the appeal was abandoned with a dismissal of the appeal with costs. In Rex versus Jordan the appeal was set down to go at the foot of the whole list. In Coquitlam versus the Terminal Company the appeal was allowed with costs, by consent. In Tait and McBride dual appeals from a Vancouver Court of Revision on land assessment, hearing was fixed peremptorily for June 16. The appeal of Rex versus Morphy, a criminal cause, was withdrawn and a new trial ordered on the discovery of fresh evidence.

PEREMPTORY LIST

The peremptory list for the present was fixed as Allison vs. Standard Lumber Company; Coburn vs. Adams, and Bushby vs. Tanner. Extension of time to place the hearing of the Attorney-General of Canada vs. Dunbar before the next session of the court was granted.

The Attorney-General of Canada vs. West, the Stanley Park property appeal, was transferred to the Vancouver sessions as was a companion cause styled the AttorneyGeneral of Canada vs. Cummings.

"O-CEDAR" SUIT

Counsel in Channell vs. Rombough sought leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada from a decision of the B.C. Court of Appeal in favor of the defendants who claimed the right to use "Cedarbrite" as the name of their product, a polishing oil. Leave was asked by plaintiffs, the proprietors of the O-Cedar products, who set up that an infringement of trade mark had been attempted.

Counsel explained that already a motion for leave to appeal was before the Supreme Court of Canada on the ground that the appeal involved a greater sum than $2,000. Under that amount leave from the B.C. court had to be sought. Counsel wanted both. The motion was opposed, the court ruling that in refusing leave to appeal the plaintiff was no less before the Supreme Court even if only by way of appeal from the refusal. Mr. Justice Galliher would have allowed the leave, on the ground that the matter was one of general importance in the interpretation of the Trade Marks Act and usages.

At this stage the court rose for the luncheon recess, with four motions yet unheard. Of these one is filed by the City of Victoria for leave to appeal from an order of Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in the Sooke Waterworks action brought in the name of Ernest Temple on behalf of the Westholme Lumber Company.

NEED NOMINEE FOR VICE-PRESIDENCY

Cleveland, June 4.—One week from yesterday the Republican national convention assembles for business and everything has been practically settled with the exception of finding a nominee for the vice-presidency. It is a situation without a parallel since 1904, when the Republicans marched to Chicago and nominated Theodore Roosevelt by acclamation. Inasmuch as no arrangements have been made to place Senator Hiram Johnson of California in nomination for the presidency, there is no doubt that President Coolidge could be chosen by acclamation were it not for the presentation of the name of Senator La Follette by the Wisconsin delegation.

POLITICS

Federal Ministers coming soon.

Greenfield ready to back Oliver on Rates.

Tolmie here to manage Conservative Fight.

Should be in Ottawa, Premier asserts.

Liberals plan two meetings this week.

Definite assurances were received here to-day that Hon. A. S. Copp, Secretary of State, and Hon. Dr. H. S. Beland, Minister of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, will come to British Columbia to participate in the election campaign. The date of their arrival is not yet settled, but the Vancouver Liberal organization is seeking to have them in Vancouver by Wednesday, June 11, to address a monster meeting to be held under the big trees in Stanley Park.

Unless present plans are changed to bring the Ministers to Vancouver by next Wednesday, the plan is to have them speak at various points in the interior, such as Revelstoke, Fernie, Cranbrook, Salmon Arm, Penticton, Kamloops and so on, converging on Vancouver about June 17 or 18.

Premier Greenfield, chieftain of the Progressive Party Government in the province of Alberta, has also agreed to sink party differences and come to British Columbia to lend his platform support to Premier Oliver's fight on the freight rate issue. It has not been decided yet whether Mr. Greenfield will be asked to come or not.

Hon. S. F. Tolmie, M.P. for Victoria, is evidently planning to throw his whole weight into the Conservatives' election fight for he is to have charge of the opposition campaign on the Island. Dr. Tolmie met W. J. Bowser, Conservative leader, in Ladysmith last night when the two addressed a meeting in support of the candidature of C. F. Davie, Conservative candidate in Cowichan-Newcastle. The Doctor is expected to arrive here to-morrow and from now on will be busy organizing the opposition fight on the Island.

Premier Oliver heard with interest to-day the announcement that Dr. Tolmie had arrived on the Coast, prepared to help Mr. Bowser's cause. The Premier, who has vigorously attacked Dr. Tolmie for neglecting his sessional duties in Ottawa to bolster up Mr. Bowser's campaign, intimated that he had not finished his references to the Victoria member.

"It is all very well for Dr. Tolmie to rush out here to help Mr. Bowser but he should be in Ottawa looking after the interests of this Province," Mr. Oliver declared.

Liberal candidates in Victoria will round out a busy week with addresses in Semple's Hall, Victoria West, on Thursday and in the Margaret Jenkins School Saturday. Premier Oliver will speak at the Victoria West meeting and on Saturday the candidates will be accompanied by another member of the Cabinet, probably Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance.

The Provincial Party will hold a rally in St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay, tonight when A. H. McNeill, K.C., of Vancouver, will be the chief speaker. The four Provincial candidates in Victoria also will speak. To-morrow night the Provincial standard-bearers will address a meeting in Shelbourne Street Hall.

EMPIRE DAUGHTERS HELP IMMIGRANTS

Assistance Given to 10,416 Women and 3,571 Children Convention Told

Toronto, June 4.—Immigration activities of the Daughters of the Empire, as reported by the convenor, Mrs. William Petri of Quebec at this morning's session of the National Convention here, showed co-operation between the chapters and Red Cross nurses as illustrated by assistance given 10,416 women and 3,571 children at Quebec.

The report advised that investigation and education of those destined to become new Canadians should begin at the port of embarkation rather than at the place of entry.

Rev. Sydney Lambert, Dominion president of the Amputation Association, and W. S. Dobbs, president of the Toronto branch, brought greetings to the meeting with thanks for assistance given, especially that of support to the maintenance as it now stands, of the $600 as pension and $300 bonus for all disabled soldiers.

The constitution of the organization and the girl guide movement was also discussed this morning.

OBITUARY

The funeral of the late Mrs. Jennie Henrietta Larden who passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital on June 2 took place this morning the cortege leaving the Sands Funeral Chapel at 8.50 o'clock. Ten minutes later Mass was celebrated at St. Andrew's Cathedral by Rev. Father E. B. Wood and the remains were laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery. Relatives and many friends were present and the many beautiful flowers testified to the high esteem in which the late Mrs. Larden was held. Messrs. J. Tahoney, H. Larner, P. Roland, W. Lumley, A. Harris and W. H. Norton acted as pallbearers.

Service for Elizabeth Alice Dunlop was conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of her parents by the Rev. Dr. Wilson. There was a very large gathering of friends, and the little casket and hearse were covered with many beautiful floral designs. Interment was made at Royal Oak Burial Park.

EVIDENCE GIVEN ON WITHDRAWAL FROM HOME BANK

Minister of Labor Did Not Get $4,050 After Closing Hours, Committee Told

J. F. Stewart, Director Sued For $3,000,000, on Witness Stand To-day

Ottawa, June 4—Geoffrey T. Clarkson, liquidator of the Home Bank, appeared before the committee on privileges and elections of the House of Commons this morning and gave evidence in regard to the withdrawal of $4,050 from the Ottawa branch of the Home Bank by Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, two days before its failure. Mr. Clarkson told the committee that he had been informed in the first place that the withdrawal had been made by Mr. Murdock after the close of business, but he had since learned from the manager of the Ottawa branch that this was not the case.

The evidence of Mr. Clarkson consisted largely of a review of the correspondence which passed between him and Mr. Murdock resulting in the return of the money. An effort by E. Guss Porter, Conservative member for West Hastings, who made the charges in the House of Commons to examine the witness in regard to a meeting of directors of the bank which took place on August 15, 1923, was ruled out of order by Chairman Joseph Archambault. Mr. Porter appealed and the chairman's ruling was sustained by eighteen to four.

DIRECTOR CALLED

Before adjournment, J. F. Stewart, a director of the Home Bank, was called to the stand to tell of his visit to Ottawa just before the bank failed. Mr. Stewart prefaced his evidence by informing the chairman that he had been arrested, had appeared before the court, was at present out on bail and had the honor of being sued for $3,000,000. Therefore he asked for the protection of the committee. He was not, he said, aware of the financial condition of the Home Bank until after its suspension. At the request of the board of directors he had come to Ottawa on August 14 to try and get assistance from the Government for the bank. He had located Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways, and in company with him, Hon. James A. Robb acting Minister of Finance and J. C. Saunders, Deputy Minister of Finance, they had gone to see the Prime Minister at his residence. This call took place before midnight.

SEVERAY FINNS MAY BE DEPORTED SOON

Immigration Officials Investigating Activities of "Reds" in Ontario

Port Arthur, Ont., June 4.—Deportation of several Finlanders resident in this district, who are stated to have been active in "Red" circles and who, it is alleged, have preached the gospel of sedition and overthrow of the local government since their arrival in Canada, may be the result of an investigation by Immigration authorities. In the endeavor to obtain sufficient evidence to warrant the deportation of the men, it is said the investigation has now shifted overseas to Finland.

It has been started that Finns who have not sworn allegiance to the "cause" are bounded and that intimidation of employers of men not in the ranks of the "Red" party has been resorted to.

The investigation resulted from the revelations in the Society Prosvita and the suicide of a Finn, who had declared he had been hounded to desperation by the "Reds."

H. Barnes Eliminated by O'Halloran in Close Struggle

Exciting Five-Set Semi-Final Between Hodgson and Hocking

Steady progress was made on Monday and yesterday evening in the elimination rounds of the Kingston Street Club scratch tournament, the semi-finals being reached in some of the events.

Two very interesting contests took place in the men's singles. H. Barnes gave the champion, C. H. O'Halloran, one of the closest matches seen on the Kingston Street courts, but had in the end to yield the palm to his more experienced opponent. Clifford Hodgson and Bud Hocking, both young players of considerable promise, met each other in the first semi-final round of the men's singles to be reached. Hodgson, loosing the first and third sets, was obliged to extend himself to the utmos in both the fourth and fifth set of the match in which he eventually proved the victor.

In the ladies' singles Miss Sissons put up a remarkably strong fight against Miss Cass, the match ending 11-9, 7-5 in favor of the latter.

Somewhat of an upset occurred in the ladies' doubles in the defeat of Mrs. List and Miss Sissons by Miss Wilson and Miss Piercy in the semi-final round after a three set struggle in which the victors picked up wonderfully after losing the first set 6-0 and the first three games in the second set. A feature of this match was Miss Piercy's steadiness and accuracy.

The result of yesterday's matches and the draw for to-day follow:

LADIES' SINGLES

Miss Severs beat Mrs. Shaw 6-3, 6-0.

Miss Leighton beat Miss Eastman 6-2, 6-2.

Mrs. List beat Miss Piercy 6-2, 7-5.

LADIES' DOUBLES (SEMI-FINAL)

Miss Wilson and Miss Piercy beat Mrs. List and Miss Sissons 0-6, 7-5, 6-2.

MEN'S SINGLES

O'Halloran beat H. Barnes 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

Davey beat Stone by default.

Hodgson beat Hocking (semi-final round) 1-6, 6-4, 0-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Willins and Barnes beat Radford and Hamilton by default.

Field and Davey beat Crouch and Acton 6-2, 6-1.

MIXED DOUBLES

Miss Wilson and O'Halloran beat Miss Eastman and Col. Appleton 6-1, 6-2.

Clearing Way For Wills-Madden go in Long Island Arena

New York, June 4. — The ban against the Queensboro A.C. and its Long Island City boxing arena was temporarily lifted yesterday when the Board of Standards and Appeals granted a thirty-day permit to officials of the club to conduct boxing contests. The decision is the result of an appeal made to the board by Simon Flaherty, promoter, from a ruling made by fire department that the big stadium is an alleged fire trap.

Following this ruling officials of the club announced the Wills-Madden heavyweight bout, postponed originally by rain and later by the fire department's decree, would be held in the big bowl next Monday night providing the State Athletic Commission issues a license to the club.

Approval by the fire department must follow the Board of Standards and Appeals action before the State Athletic Commission can act on the club's application for a license.

PITCHING ACE

NORM FORBES

Norm, who is one of the best chuckers in town, will be on the mound for the C.P.R. to-night. If he is in form the feathered tribe will have their hands full in trying to crash out the pill.

Old Rivals Will Clash At Ball Park To-night

Eagles and C.P.R. Nines to Battle; Both Teams Confident of Winning Fixture

What promises to be one of the best ball games of the season is scheduled for the Royal Athletic Park to-night when the Eagles and C.P.R. clash for the second time this season in a senior amateur league fixture. The game will be called at 6.30 o'clock with Allie McGregor handling the indicator. It is expected there will be a large crowd of fans on hand. As this evening is ladies' night the league officials are looking for a large number of the fair sex.

These two teams are old rivals from a long way back and the last time they met this season the railroaders came out on the long end of a 8-2 score. To-night the lodgemen are confident they will be able to hand the league leaders their first defeat of the season. Last year these two teams put up some fine exhibitions with the railwaymen having the slight advantage.

Manager Le Roy stated this morning that Noble will be on the mound for the lodgemen. This snappy hurler has not been seen in action this year, but from reports he is in great form and should make the opposing batters step lively. Noble pitched a number of fine games last season and if he is in as good a form this year he should make a great showing. The rest of the Eagles' team will be as follows: Jim Cummins will be on the first sack with Murty Dunn at second, while the old reliable, Johnny Cummins, will be at short. Bates, a new face, will be holding down the third bag. The outfield will be made up of Macaulay, Turpel, Robinson and "Heb" Cummins.

McGINNIS WILL DO THE CATCHING

It is not know who will do the heavy work for the champions, but it is expected that the railroader's pitching ace, Norm Forbes, will be in the box for them. Norm has not been doing much pitching this season, and he should make the feathered tribe step along if they expect to fatten their batting averages. The C.P.R. team will be as follows: Haley Jackson at the initial sack, Falconer Campbell at second, Harry Copas at short and Colin Campbell at third. Roy Copas, Bob Whyte and Richdale will make up the infield. Bill Moore will be on the receiving end of the battery.

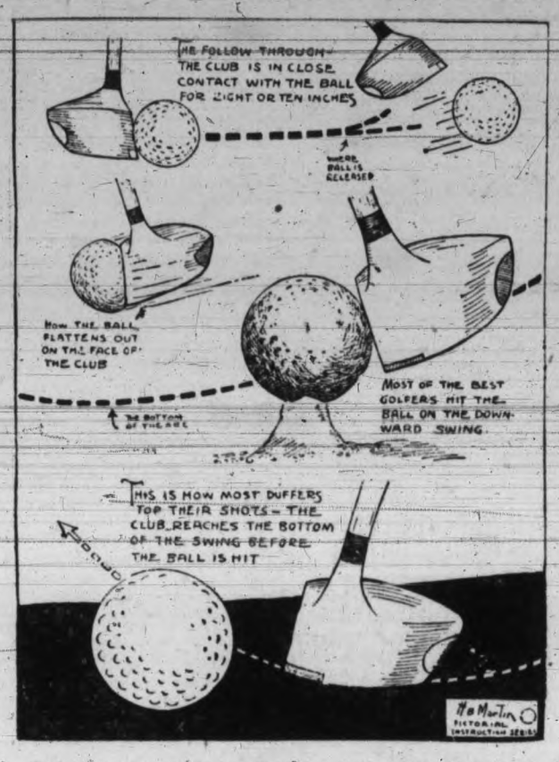
"Little Bill" Sees The Moving Pictures

San Francisco, June 4.—William M. Johnston, second ranking tennis player in this country and holder of the world's hard and turf courts championships, yesterday underwent an operation for the removal of his tonsils. Physicians have advised Johnston, who is known as "Little Bill," that the operation will increase his weight. Dr. Mehlong, a member of the United States Davis Cup team in 1923, performed the operation.

Making Proper Connection



The greatest experts of the game have changed their ideas about the way a golf ball should be hit from the tee. The last ten or fifteen years the stars of the game have been hitting down on the ball, that is, taking the little sphere away on the downward swing of the driver instead of waiting until the clubhead reached the bottom of the arc.

The reason for this is obvious. The club obtains a greater purchase on the ball which insures a longer follow through. The rubber cored ball flattens out on the surface of the club, providing a greater rebound, which means more distance and a longer carry so essential in modern golf.

The duffer makes the mistake of hitting the ball on the up swing, thereby inviting disaster. Topped balls, so troublesome to the average golfer, are caused in most cases by the club ascending instead of what the name implies—hitting it on top. Looking up, or in words to the same effect—lifting the head—before the club has finished its work of following through is the principal factor in spoiling a good tee shot.

Leading Tennis Stars Are Timed To The Minute

Seldom Has Season Opened With More Healthy Interest in the Game

By WILLIAM T. TILDEN

June always impresses me as the time to cast a retrospective glance at the tennis season. Most people believe it has hardly opened, yet to the close student of the game, June, with its big events looming on the horizon, has a special significence, particularly this year, owing to the enormous Davis Cup entry list, and also to the Olympic championships.

The leading stars are timed to the minute. The time has come to point out certain tendencies which may well bear reflection. Seldom has any season opened with more healthy interest among the followers of the sport. The huge list of tournaments sanctioned by the United States National Lawn Tennis Association speaks eloquently of the national growth of the game. Increased play among juniors is evidenced by the increased number of tournaments and the swelling entry lists in them. Yet over all has hung the menacing stormcloud of strife due to the differences within the association over the player-writer controversy.

SUPREMACY THREATENED

There is a danger to U.S. supremacy on the courts hidden in this controversy, far more subtle and infinitely harder to combat than the loss of any individual player or players. It is the reaction on the players as a whole group, who will be called on to defend the country's honor in international competition this year. Seldom has so bitter a controversy raged in sport, and it is a strain, mental, physical and nervous on all, players and officials alike. Surely some step will come that will lighten the burden on our Davis Cup defenders and Olympic crusaders (no matter whom they may be), before they are called into action.

The tennis world is one great big family, and, while family squabbles do occur, the happiest families are those who live in a spirit of unity and co-operation. I fear for the morale of the tennis players if they are forced to play much longer in the atmosphere of strife now existing.

If the country is convinced that an error has been made by the player-writer interpretation, let it be proclaimed. If the country is convinced of the advisability of the rule, let it be shown unmistakably.

Players are showing the strain. Vincent Richards has lost to Frank Hunter, Carl Fischer has not yet reached his true form. Many stars are for from their best due, in many cases, to the uncertainty existing as to the future of the tennis world.

Let the tennis world pull together, and not apart. They are all working for the good of tennis. Every tennis player who loves the game desires to keep it clean of the taint of commercialism, keep it healthy and progressive. Whoever has made an error in this controversy—and certainly one has been made somewhere—will be glad to have it discovered and eradicated. Let us join in a request for a special meeting of the U. S. L. T. A. where the amateur rule interpretation may be reconsidered and the opinion of the tennis public, now conversant with the case, established beyond a shadow of a doubt.

Yacht Designers Are Preparing Plans For Sir Thomas Lipton

London, June 4.—Several of the most prominent yacht designers in Great Britain are preparing plans for a new America's Cup challenger, at the request of Sir Thomas Lipton, according to "The Daily Mail." The paper adds that Sir Thomas has not yet decided to issue a challenge for 1925, as he desires before doing so to see what the best designers can produce.

Veterans' Team in Vancouver Saturday

Two Connaught cup soccer games are on next Saturday's card, Saint Andrews meeting Nanaimo City, Dominion champions, in the Coal City, while the Vancouver Elks will take on Victoria Veterans at Vancouver. The winners of both matches will enter the fours.

The winner of this round will meet the Alberta champions in Vancouver in the first round of the semi-finals. The winners go straight to Winnipeg, where the finals have been scheduled.

Both Elks and Veterans have strengthened their lineups since the close of the regular playing schedule and will put up a hard struggle for the honors.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

QUESTIONS

1. How does the umpire determine the distance between the shoulder and the knee in calling a strike? Does he have an imaginary line to judge by? When a player crouches, how does he determine what is the proper height?—F.P.A.

2. When a foul ball is hit, must a base runner return to his base prior to the next pitch?—J.H.C.

3. If a batter is hit by a pitched ball, walks or sacrifices a runner, is he charged with a time at bat? — W.E.

ANSWERS

1. In judging the distance between the knee and shoulder, major league umpires always take into consideration the batter's stance. If a batter naturally hits from a crouch position, that perhaps lowers his shoulder line several inches, the umpire regards the height of his shoulder when in a crouch position, as the proper line, rather than where it would be if he stood up straight. If in a pinch a player purposely crouches with a hope of deceiving the umpire, the official renders his decision based on the batter's height if he had stood in his usual position at the plate.

2. The base runner is supposed to return. Often the umpire starts play when he is a few feet away in an effort to hurry matters. The umpire after a foul never should start play until the runners are satisfactorily placed.

3. In the three cases cited, the batsman is not charged with a time at bat.

Tennis Court Stars Want Player-writer Controversy Shelved

Play Would be Impaired During Season by Discussion at This Time They Say

New York, June 4.—A letter signed by Maurice McLoughlin, former national champion, and ten other prominent players, past and present, urging that the executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis committee which meets in New York to-day should not call a special meeting during the present playing season to reconsider the player-writer interpretation of the amateur rule, was made public to-day by George Wightman, president of the association.

The communication stated that such a meeting was unnecessary because all leading players, including the champion, William T. Tilden II, were eligible to play in all important national and international tournaments during the summer without hindrance to their writing and that their work on the courts would be impaired by a controversy which should be postponed until a more appropriate time when the matter could be debated upon its merits.

The letter also stated that injection of the player-writer issue into the actual playing season would be "embarrassing to players of other nations who also write for newspapers."

DAVIS CUP TENNIS

Birmingham, Eng., June 4.—Great Britain's Davis Cup team to-day eliminated the Spanish team and won the right to meet South Africa at Scarborough next week in the third round of European play for the tennis trophy, by virtue of the victory of J. B. Gilbert, of the British team, over J. M. Alonzo, of Spain, 6-0, 6-4, 6-0.

Dublin, June 3.—Rene Lacoste, of the French Davis Cup team, which eliminated the Irish team from the second European round for the tennis trophy by its victory in the doubles yesterday after taking two singles matches Saturday, defeated Dr. E. D. McCrea, of the Irish team, to-day, 6-1, 6-3, 6-1, in the first of the last two singles matches. France will meet India in the third round.

Jean Couiteau, of France, won the second singles match, defeating H. V. Dillon, of Ireland, in a hard-fought five set match, 4-6, 1-6, 6-2, 11-9, 6-2.

Looking Things Over

What is the value of the pinch hitter in baseball?

The other day no less an authority than Miller Huggins, manager of the world champions, the New York Yankees, answered that question for me.

"No ball club is complete unless it has at least two competent pinch hitters, one a right hander, the other a left hander.

"If it is fortunate enough to have more than two good pinch hitters it is all the better equipped.

+ + +

At present Huggins is more than satisfied with his left-handed pinch hitters, Earl Combs and Harvey Hendricks. Both are dangerous batsmen. Combs hit .380 in the American Association last year. Hendricks did good work as a Yankee substitute.

While Huggins has some very capable right-handed hitters on the bench none of them are as impressive as Combs. He says he is in the field for a right hander who can hit the ball in the pinches.

+ + +

Unquestionably the pinch hitter's job is one of the most difficult in baseball. Rushed into the game cold, he is usually called upon in a tight situation.

+ + +

The theory of most of the big league managers is to try to win to-day's game at any cost, tomorrow's game will take care of itself.

Not so many years ago, managers would gamble with their rookies in a game that seemed lost, rather than tossing some star into the contest in a hope that he might pull it out of the fire.

Those days seem to be over. Modern competition calls for using every available bit of strength when there is a possibility of pulling a game out of the fire, or to hold a slight lead.

+ + +

Players are constantly being shifted to meet situations of the modern game. Pitchers are seldom permitted to linger, once they seem to be weakening. Such a system naturally calls for a goodly supply of pinch hitters.

+ + +

The baseball fans like the style of play that makes it seem as if the manager is wide awake to every situation and eager to take advantage of it.

As a matter of fact, the fan is prone to be too critical in this respect. When things are breaking badly for a pitcher he usually yells for his immediate removal.

Very often the pitcher is not to blame for the situation. If permitted to remain, he rights himself, and holds the opposition safe. In such cases the manager must use far more discretion than the fan cares for.

+ + +

Managers work on the theory that base hits win ball games. Often the insertion of a good pinch hitter turns the trick. That is why at least one good left hander and one good right hander is so much desired. As Miller Huggins says, no club is properly equipped unless so supplied.

Canada Not Among Countries Entered For Olympic Boxing

Toronto, June 4.—For some reason Canada is not mentioned among the countries entered in the Olympic boxing events, Fred Johnston, president of the Ontario A.A.U. of C., announces that he had been led to believe that P. J. Mulqueen had made arrangements with the Olympic committee to accept a blank entry and that he would cable the names of the contestants later. The reason for this was the backward season in Canada for athletic events. However, this should hardly apply to boxing, and if the entry was made, Canada's name should be among the entries.

Paris, June 4.—The entries for the boxing events in the Olympic games closed last night. France, Australia, New Zealand, Denmark, Great Britain, Argentine, Norway and Hungary and the United States will be represented in the various classes.

Star Class Boats Race Saturday In Inter-club Events

Victoria and Seattle Yachtsmen Will Take Part in Programme at English Bay

Team racing of star class yachts, under the auspices of the English Bay fleet of the Star Class Association, will be held on English Bay next Saturday if the Victoria and Seattle yachtsmen are able to go over on that date. The proposal was discussed some time ago, of the outside clubs sending crews to whatever city was holding the races, the visitors to use boats of the local club to race in.

Vancouver yachtsmen, in order to start the game, have invited Victoria and Seattle star boat sailors to send two representative crews each for next Saturday, which is the only open date available this month. The Victoria men have been very enthusiastic over the proposal, and had previously expressed their willingness to come up on any date that might be arranged by Vancouver.

Fleet Captain R. W. Purves of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club and Mr. A. N. Wolverton have been drawn to skipper the two boats of the Vancouver team. There are six Vancouver star boats, which allows for a team of two boats each, representing Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle. The names of the boats will be placed in a hat and drawn for by the various teams, but as there is little to choose between them, all having been put in first-class shape this spring, the racing should be close. These boats are 22 feet 8 inches over all by 5 feet 8 inches beam, and carry 280 square feet of sail in a Marconi sloop rig.

The visitors have been extended a cordial invitation to the club cruise and dance which is being held by the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club at Bowen Island on Saturday night, which promises to be a very enjoyable affair. Capt. Purves has arranged to have Capt. Hobbs' auxiliary yawl Nymph stand by to tow the star boats to Bowen Island after their race.

Los Angeles, June 4.—Jimmy Duffy, Oakland, claimant to the Pacific Coast welterweight championship, outpointed Billy Wells, English titleholder in the main event of the four-round bouts here last night. Duffy carried the fight into his opponent's corner, showering the Englishman with a flurry of rights and left. Wells showed his only burst of speed in the third round. In the final session Duffy had him in a bad way before the gong.

Woodley Jumps Into Professional Ring

Under the wing of the veteran Billy Davies, Ernest Woodley, following a brief victorious career as a amateur light heavyweight in Victoria has taken the plunge into the chilly seas of professionalism and will appear in his first pro bout at Courtenay, July 1. Since he landed his knockout on Cecil Bradshaw at Duncan in an amateur bout coast promoters have been sizing up his work. There is a lot about boxing that he has yet to learn in spite of his experience overseas but, rugged as a heavyweight champion's sparring partner and with a punch in either hand that spells sleep and pleasant dreams, Woodley's future in the pro game looks promising when he puts on the frills. Fortunately he has the ability to assimilate punishment as well as give it. His heavy two-handed hitting makes him a dangerous opponent and any fight in which he takes part is bound to be interesting as long as his opponent can match punches. Woodley had many tempting offers that caused him to turn pro. After his bout at Courtenay he will go to Port Angeles where he will appear in a ten-round scrap.

The Madison completed the trip from Yokohama in nine days, twelve hours and fifty-one minutes. Captain Quinn reported exceptionally fine weather throughout the voyage across.

Although the Madison reduced her own sailing time in crossing the Pacific the vessel could not travel fast enough on her homeward voyage for C. R. Nelson, chief steward. He is to be married in Seattle prior to the departure of the Madison for the Orient.

Miss Kathleen Lynch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch, of Seattle, will be the happy bride.

MOTORSHIP INDIEN RUSHING INJURED MEN TO VICTORIA

Vessel Expected to Arrive About 5 o'Clock To-night; Medical Aid Needed

It is expected that the motor ship Indien, bound to Vancouver and Puget Sound ports at the time three of her crew were injured by a fall into the lower hold, will make Victoria about 5 o'clock to-night to secure medical attention for the chief officer, who is in a critical condition and the two Chinese sailors who are both suffering from fractures.

The accident occurred aboard the Indien on May 30. In a wireless message to the President Madison on that day asking for medical advice it was stated that the chief officer and two Chinese sailors fell down the lower hold, a drop of twenty feet and sustained serious injuries.

Dr. H. B. Cochran, of the President Madison, immediately wired detailed medical instructions for each of the injured men and further instructions the next day. He also advised Captain H. Jacobsen, of the Indien to put into Dutch Harbor. The Captain replied, that he could not put into Dutch harbor as he had no charts of that harbor, but stated he would make for Victoria with all speed. The vessel is scheduled to arrive to-day and latest word from the vessel gives her time about 5 o'clock this evening.

That Dr. Cochran's wireless instructions placed the injured men out of immediate danger was intimated in a radio message from the Indien received by the doctor on May 31 which stated "Your telegram received noon to-day, May 31, chief officer slept almost all night and again nearly all day. Feels much better. Your advice has been carried out and everything looks better to-day. The sailor with crushed foot has been suffering very much and when we dressed his foot this morning it was bleeding again. He seems to feel better, but wants sleep."

FIFTY THOUSAND INSECTS ARRIVE ON ORIENTAL LINER

Being Shipped to New Jersey And Will Travel by First Class Mail From Seattle

When the Admiral Oriental liner President Madison docked here yesterday afternoon from the Orient she had a capacity list of passengers and in addition some 50,000 that were not on the passenger list.

The unlisted passengers were beetle grubs, and each one had a special stateroom which was provided for by Curtis P. Clausen, entomologist for the United States Department of Agriculture. This consisted of a cell about one inch square and high, filled with soil. The insects were collected this Spring near Sapporo in Hokkaido, Japan, stated Mr. Clausen.

They are being imported for the purpose of introducing into the United States certain insect enemies of a leaf-eating beetle which is doing an immense amount of damage in New Jersey and neighboring States to gardens and nurseries.

"The beetle is of the same species as the grubs that were originally introduced from Japan. The joker in the game is the fact that a large percentage of the grubs have another grub feeding upon them," stated the entomologist. "This will eventually hatch into a fly. This fly is a big factor in destroying the beetles."

After being landed in Seattle the shipment will be sent by mail to Riverton, New Jersey. The Department will have a postage bill of $1,200.

Other shipments of insects will follow this lot at different times this Summer, Mr. Clausen stated.

Philippines Plan Ambitious Y.M.C.A. Development Work

For the purpose of taking up an ambitious expansion programme with the International Y.M.C.A. Association at New York, Everett S. Turner, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in the Philippine Islands, passed through Victoria yesterday aboard the President Madison.

The Y.M.C.A. in the Philippine Islands have planned an extensive expansion programme which involves the construction of three buildings and establishment of branches in outlying districts. To do this considerable financing is required and Mr. Turner is en route to New York to lay the question before the International organization. He will be away from his post five months.

Mr. Turner, in speaking of the Y.M.C.A. work in the Philippines, said there were over 5,000 Philippine members of the Y.M.C.A. and 1,000 Chinese members in addition to a large number of Americans.

ONE THOUSAND BAGS OF MAIL DESTROYED BY FIRE IN ORIENT

Fire in Mailroom on President Madison Caused Much Damage

Over one thousand bags of first-class mail were destroyed aboard the President Madison while en route from Kobe to Shanghai on her last outbound trip, it was learned on the arrival of the liner from the Far East yesterday afternoon. Evidence of the fire was to be seen in the U.S. mail room aboard the liner. Considerable woodwork was charred.

This was more than a third of the consignment shipped out of Seattle when she sailed from there the last trip. The liner brought in 3,000 bags of mail this trip.

Seventy-two bags were discharged here for trans-shipment to Vancouver, Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg and Quebec. Several bags were for local distribution.

Eddie Hubbard had to make two trips by seaplane to handle the special mail for Seattle. He carried 600 pounds of mail each trip, making a total of 1,200 pounds.

SOUNDINGS

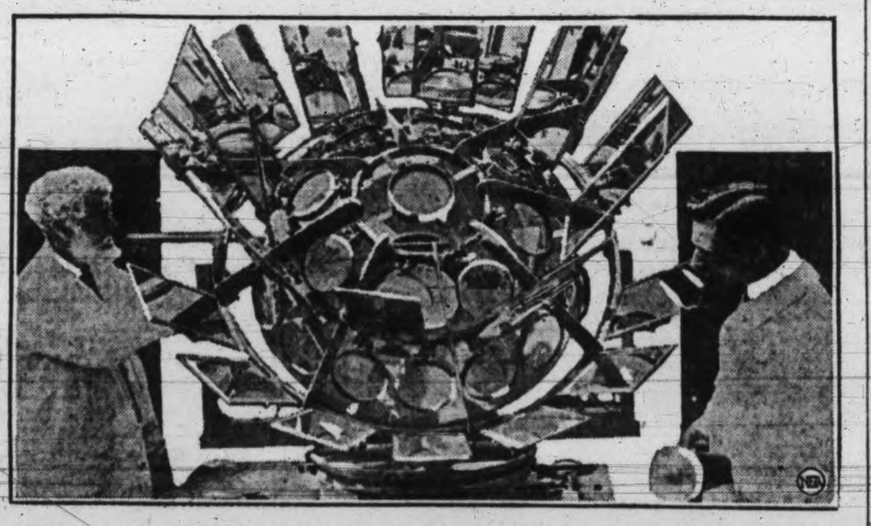
Word received at Rithet's Consolidated this morning states that the Harrison-Direct liner Benefactor should make Victoria about June 14. Latest word from her is that she will arrive at San Pedro to-morrow to discharge cargo.

The Kingsley Navigation Company's freighter E. D. Kingsley arrived here this afternoon from California ports to discharge over fifty tons of freight. Following discharge of cargo she will move to Vancouver.

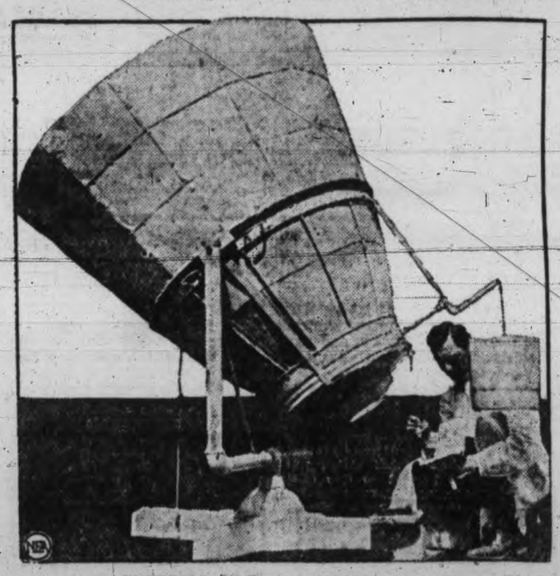
The Canadian Pacific Princess Louise was drydocked at Esquimalt this morning. Yarrows Limited will clean and paint her and it is expected to float the vessel again to-morrow when she will be taken around to the outfitting wharf to secure minor repairs and general overhaul.

Passengers aboard the President Madison took up a subscription while en route from the Orient to Seattle and when one day out from Victoria, made the presentation of a purse of money to chief Steward Nelson who is to be married in Seattle before the Madison leaves on the outbound trip.

His Machines Harness Sun's Rays for Power



THE SOLAR MELTING MACHINE. IT HAS PRODUCED A TEMPERA TURE OR 15,000 DEGREES



EXTERIOR OF THE MELTING MACHINE

THE MACHINE THAT CONVERTS SUN RAYS INTO INDUSTRIAL POWER UNITS

San Francisco, May 28—Old Sol may be turning the wheels of industry one of these days.

Marcel Moreau, San Francisco, has invented three machines obtaining their power from the sun's rays, which, he says, will:

Produce a temperature of 15,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

Furnish power so long as the sun shines.

Generate electricity and store it in storage batteries.

Moreau had his three machines completed and in operation. They are nicely balanced combinations of mirrors and magnifying glasses.

In his heat machine he has seen diamonds bubble and disappear in gaseous form. Carbon, which is fluid at 610 degrees, has melted with a fraction of the power his heat machine developed. He believes he can double the 15,000 degrees generated by this device by further application of his principles.

While Moreau has many problems to work out, he foresees the time when power plants operated by the sun's rays will be established in districts having high temperatures to furnish power to entire groups of states.

MINING NEWS

PLATINUM FOUND

Platinum has been added to the long list of minerals in the Alice Arm district. The discovery was made by Archie McPhail, who sent samples of ore south for assaying. The samples were taken from the Rex property, and the values obtained were platinum, $4.80, and gold, $10.80 per ton. Previous assays for gold having given $17.00 per ton. The ore also carries 97.1 silica.

This is, so far as is known, the only ore sample in the district to be assayed for platinum, and the result obtained will undoubtedly encourage prospectors to have similar assays taken.

The Rex property joins the David Copperfield on the south, which joins the Dolly Varden. The ore vein from which the samples were taken is about eight feet wide. It is practically touching the Dolly Varden railway tracks, thus ensuring easy transportation of supplies and ore shipments. With a thirty foot tunnel, a depth of seventy-five feet can be obtained.

GOLD WASHING

A good deal of the foreshore of the peninsula north and south of Massett, including North Beach, has been staked in placer claims and registered at Queen Charlotte City, and most of the people of that part of the island are contemplating going into the gold washing business and will ship their concentrates to the smelter which is to be erected at Massett by the P. B. C. Mines Company Limited. The president of the company, George W. B. Fletcher and Mrs. Fletcher of Philadelphia, and the vice-president, Herman Block of Baltimore, will complete the purchase of machinery and material for the plant, much of which has already been purchased here. They will return home and expect to be back here about the middle of July.

The company will wash gold both on Massett Inlet and at Tow Hill and the concentrates will be brought to Massett in boats for which a special dock will be built.

BRITISH PREPARING ARCTIC EXPEDITION

Will Explore Island Northwest of Spitzbergen and Other Areas

London, June 4.—The British Arctic Expedition, organized by George Binney, will shortly sail from Newcastle. Two ships have been chartered, a 300-ton Norwegian whaler and a small Norwegian sealing sloop. A seaplane especially designed for Arctic reconnaissance work will accompany the expedition, which has the support of the Royal Geographical Society and the air survey committee of the Air Ministry.

The chief object of the expedition is to explore Northeast Land, an island to the northwest of the main Spitzbergen Island. Other objects are to beat the farthest north record of sailing in navigable waters and to investigate the northwestern land of the Franz Josef Archipelago.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, above the average level of lower low water.

Esquimalt—To find the depth of water on the sill of the dry dock at any tide, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

MONTREAL FIREMAN GIVES PERSONAL TESTIMONY

Joseph Breard Suffered From Stomach Trouble and Nervousness For Long Time

"Tanlac certainly made a quick run on my troubles and, as a result, I am at my best, ready for instant duty all the time," is the characteristic statement of Joseph Breard, 234 St. Charles St., Montreal, Que., popular member of the Montreal fire department.

"For a whole year, my appetite was mighty poor, what little food I forced down lumped up in my stomach, and at times the pain almost doubled me up. I was continually bloated with gas and would often choke up like I had smoke in my throat, and have to fight for breath. My nerves were bad, my sleep restless, and I always felt tired out.

"But now I eat like a house afire and my stomach never felt better. I sleep fine, feel strong and alert and enjoy as rugged health as a man could want. Tanlac is certainly a winner."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40,000,000 bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills for constipation, made and recommended by the manufacturers of TANLAC.

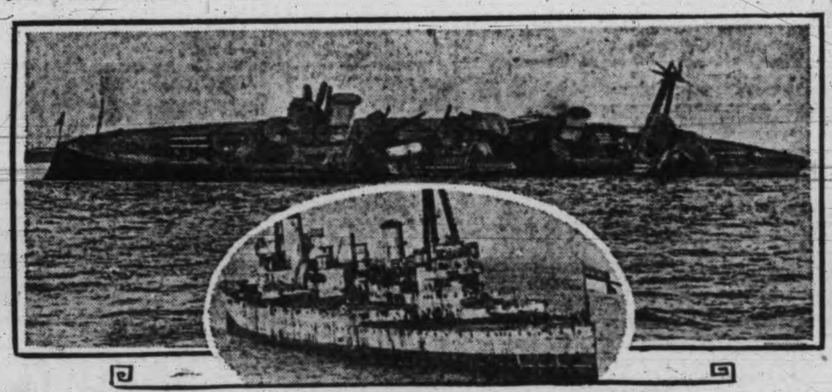
TO MODERNIZE BACKWARD COUNTRY.—The picture at the top gives you a fair idea of what Honduras is. In cities there are no sanitary systems. The Zapolotes, the vultures of Honduras, swarm in back yards and remove garbage. In the lower picture you see what may be the beginning of a new Honduras—the conference between Sumner Welles, U.S. mediator (centre), and representatives of Honduras, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Salvador and Costa Rica. The meeting was to bring about a "league of nations" of Central America.

THIS IS WHAT YOU CALL THE HORSE LAUGH.—Maybe someone told a "racy" story. Anyway, just look at this picture for a few seconds and, if you can keep from smiling you have better control of your face muscles than most folks.



SPECTACULAR SINKING OF BATTLESHIP AUSTRALIA.—Under the terms of the limitation of arms agreement the British battleship Australia recently was sent to the sea bottom by the Australian Government. These interesting pictures show the warship turning turtle in the water while (inset) is the ship ready for "Davy Jones."

SCHOOL DAYS

MOTHER AND CHILDREN ARE DOING WELL, THANK YOU.—Oh yes, the animal kingdom has proud mamas, too. Note, for instance, Hippolyte Hippo, the delicate and dainty little miss in the lower portion of the picture, a recent arrival at the Bronx Zoo. And Ella Elephant, above at the right, is learning to walk on all-fours. Muff, the beautiful Persian cat at left (above) is an all-round mother. She has a number of grown sons and daughters who are doing very well in the rat business, yet she finds time to raise a brood of chicks after their mother had died. Muff and the chicks are owned by Mrs. F. L. Pratt, Silver Springs, Md.

SPEAKS FOR GOVERNMENT.—Margaret Bondfield, British M.P., who told Conservatives in debate that "only lunatics in an asylum" would expect a Government to revolutionize the unemployment situation in a four months' tenure of office.

"SAFETY-PIN" BABE NOW PRIZE CHILD.—Mac Asbill, Jr., Atlanta, Ga., achieved sufficent fame for any infant when he swallowed a safety-pin and figured in one of the most remarkable operations in medical annals. But now he breaks into the spotlight again by being declared the most perfect baby in Atlanta, and one look at the picture indicates that the judges had good judgment.

DEAD.—Colonel William Hendrie, president of the Ontario Jockey Club, who died in Hamilton last week.

MACREADY'S BABY.—Lieut. John A. Macready, flying ace, has something else to think about now besides transcontinental flights. There is a little daughter to claim his attentions these days. Her name is Jo-Ann. Here she is in her daddy's arms.

MORE KIDNAPPING PICTURES

Gertrude Baker, 17, of Yakima, Wash., attending an academy near the Harvard School, disappeared the same day Robert Franks did. Relatives believed she probably was kidnapped with him. But she later was found in another section of the city. She had grown tired of life in the classroom and wanted "romance," she said.

The life of Josephine Franks, 17, sister of Robert Franks, murdered Chicago lad, also has been threatened. Warnings that she would be killed next if the investigation into her brother's death was not dropped have been received by her parents. A police guard has been stationed at the Franks' home.

PRINCESS, BUT SHE WORKS.—Princess Margarethe von Schoenaich-Carolath, kinswoman of the former Kaiserin, is now head nurse in the Wilmersdorfer City Hospital, Berlin, and says that life without work would be very uinteresting.

"THIS FREEDOM" IN THE CAUCASUS.—Oh yes—Women's rights are having an innings in the Caucasus as well as elsewhere. This interesting and exclusive photograph shows a gathering at Usbeck where the right to abolish the veil, with which women of that region have been swathed for generations, is the question. Also they are being instructed as to their rights under recent emancipation rulings.

TO WED.—Barbara Murray, American society girl,—whose engagement to wed Lord Doune, heir to the Earl of Moray, has been formally announced in London. Lord Doune is 32 and member of one of the oldest Scottish families. They met while Lord Doune was visiting New York two years ago.

STRONG.—If you can get real mad at the phone operator, you can tear up the telephone book—that is, if you have the strength of Lucile Kaswell, one of the world's strongest women who is shown here taking a little exercise.

TO CAPTURE PRINCE.—Princess Mafalda, daughter of the King of Italy, whom gossip in Britain now talks of as a possible consort for the Prince of Wales.

PEANUT CAUSES DEATH. Little June Estella Halsey, the two years and seven months' old daughter of A. B. Halsey, 1074 St. Clair Avenue West, Toronto, who died as the result of swallowing a peanut which got imbedded in a lung.

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

PROFIT TAKING IN EVIDENCE TO-DAY

New York, June 4. (By R. P. Clark & Co., Ltd.)—The stock market was a rather steady affair to-day with a tendency toward strength in some departments. Oils were an exception and had to contend with scattered selling based chiefly on unconfirmed rumors of an impending price cut in the mid-continent field. At any rate the talk is having the effect of encouraging selling in the general run of oil shares in spite of the fact that comments by some of the leading men in the industry are of an optimistic nature. In the late dealings the market eased off somewhat, chiefly as a result of the weakness in the oil group. Summing up things leads us to believe that we are in all probability in a period where the next important swing in prices will probably be in an upward direction.

EARLY GAINS LOST WHEN OILS TURN WEAK

New York, June 4 (By B. A. Bond)—The stock market to-day showed considerable strength and activity up to mid-session, when weakness developed in the oil group and from then on a steady flow of stocks appeared and prices sagged to the close. The trouble in the oil business seems to be a rather well-founded belief that crude oil prices will have to be lowered in order to curb over production. A very delicate balance exists between supply and demand in the oil industry. Some time ago it was expected the Summer business would obviate the necessity of any curtailment in oil production, but it is found that increased production in a few fields has complicated the situation again. There was a strong tone in the balance of the market, even after the decline set in. Baldwin Locomotive was perhaps the strongest issue. Baldwin's business is picking up again and recent statements indicate that the plants of this company will be running at a larger percentage of capacity later in the season. The fact that the stock sells ex-dividend on Friday morning, no doubt has a good deal to do with the late advance, however. Perhaps the best news to-day was the announcement that Congress would adjourn June 7, but the market has been discounting this possibility for the past week. While the advance is expected to be resumed and carry the market somewhat higher, no sustained advance is anticipated in view of the political situation.

SUBSTANTIAL RALLY IN ALL GRAINS

Chicago, June 4 (By R. P. Clark)—Wheat—The bears in wheat exaggerated the effect of the defeat of the McNary-Haugen bill, and the market to-day demonstrated the fact that with the menace hostile legislation removed the market could advance. So far as could be learned there was no hedging pressure of consequence. Winnipeg showed pronounced strength in the face of heavy back spreading, and Liverpool also closed a trifle higher. Exports evidently continued to take the Canadian market offerings. The situation is more favorable for normal ebb and flow of prices. On the breaks we look for support, both of an investment sort and against export business.

Corn—Strength in wheat and in oats had a bullish effect on corn. The cash demand was fair and prices relatively firm. The weather is still too wet in some sections, but warmer weather is forecast, will make more favorable situation.

Oats—Strength in the cash market with light receipts caused a sharp bulge and the action of the market was taken to reflect a decidedly strong situation. Outside markets as well as Chicago are having a big demand for the cash article with no indications of any big movement. Believe oats should be bought on the dips.

Chicago, June 4 (By B.A. Bond)—A substantial rally occurred in the grain market to-day. All cereals were higher, wheat gaining two cents, while corn and oats put on a cent and all closed near the day's highs. Wheat is now reported as being on an export basis and while no figures were given out it was claimed that liberal sales were made yesterday. No doubt a good deal of selling during the past week or so has been influenced by the belief that the McNary Bill would not pass and this has put the market in a strong technical position. It is hardly likely, however, that prices will advance much further before a trading area is established around present levels. The break carried prices into the lowest levels we have seen for some time and it should take some little time to digest the decline.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Winnipeg, June 4.—After opening unchanged to a fraction lower, an excellent demand came out on the wheat market this morning and prices improved rapidly, the close being near the high of the day and showed a gain of 1⅞ for both July and October. A much better feeling existed here and at Chicago, with traders inclined to the bullish side of the market. The weather conditions on both sides of the line were construed as unfavorable to the crops.

MAN JUMPED FROM TRAIN; WAS KILLED

The Pas, Man., June 4.—Anders L. Anderson, twenty, a Swede who had been in Canada one year, jumped off the rear end of the southbound train from The Pas on Monday afternoon while temporarily insane, a coroner's jury decided Tuesday night.

Anderson gave all his money to a man on the station platform before the train pulled out of here, with instructions to pay two debts for him and send the rest to his parents in Sweden. Soon after the train left The Pas he was seen by a passenger to jump head foremost from the rear end. He was dead when picked up.

UNCOVERS HIGH GRADE OF ORE

Stewart Property Rich in Gold, Silver and Lead, Assays Show

According to Stewart papers Robert Martin, who has been developing the Star and Dandy Group at Stewart, has uncovered some high grade ore. He has had some general samples assayed, taken 800 feet apart, which assayed well in gold and with a good amount of silver and lead. The property is well situated and well thought of by Stewart people, being only one and a half miles from the railroad, and surrounded by the O. & H. Group, North and South Group, the Mayflower and the Bull-Dog Group, which is owned locally by the Silver-Ledge Mining Company Limited, of Victoria. The Star and Dandy property is owned by New York mining interests, with Mr. Martin as manager.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST FIREMAN OF U.S. VESSEL

San Francisco, June 4—Primitano Rodrigues, a fireman on the steamer Charles R. McCormack, was arrested yesterday charged with killing William Stephens, an oiler on the same vessel, by splitting his head with an axe as he sat at the breakfast table in the craft at a wharf dock here. Rodrigues was said by witnesses to have resented a remark by Stephens, who leaves a family at Port Townsend, Wash.

undertaking which will produce a revenue sufficient to meet the carrying charges and all operating expenses.

SURPLUS IN SINKING FUND

"One of the first jobs I undertook after I came here was to check the calculations in connection with all General Sinking Funds, and to assure myself that the amounts set aside each year will be sufficient to meet our bonds when they fall due," Mr. Macdonald said. "The Sinking Funds, as you are all aware, are computed on a basis of the investments earning four per cent. Instead of earning only four per cent, however, the earnings last year were about five and one-half per cent, and resulted in a surplus of $24,147.85, which was carried forward to 1924 and applied on account of this year's instalments. In the next few years interest rates are almost certain to fall off, and with that always in mind, the Council has made numerous exchanges of securities, resulting in higher interest returns and longer term investments. By far the greater proportion of the Sinking Fund is represented by securities maturing from 1950 to 1962."

CIVIC ESTIMATES

Mr. Macdonald passed on to describe the preparation and consideration of the estimates, and the special difficulties which confronted the council recently in striking the rate within reasonable figures. He showed that $1,726,521 had to be levied for.

DEBT CHARGES

"Of this amount $1,020,898.63 was for debt charges, compared with $884,473.59 in 1923. $412,550.04 was for school purposes, against $412,021.69 last year, or a total of $1,433,448.67 of uncontrollable expenditure, compared with $1,296,495.28 last year an increase of $136,953.39. The amount of expenditures over which the Council has any control, or rather, expenditures less estimated receipts, is $293,072.98, compared with a total of $447,623.57 last year, a reduction of $154,550.59.

IMPROVEMENT TAX

"The rate was then fixed at 39.4 mills, with the percentage of assessment of improvements taxable increased from 33 1-3 to 50 per cent." Mr. Macdonald proceeded. "I need not deal with the arguments for and against that, as you gentlemen probably know as much about it as I do, and had asked the Council to do it, but it was felt by a majority of the Council that, with both a reduced assessment against land and a reduced tax rate, unimproved non-revenue-bearing property would get considerable relief. It was also felt that if land did not get some relief, in a few years there would be nothing left but improvements to tax. While it is not expected that this will stop properties reverting to the City, it is hoped that the value of improved properties reverting will be much less than the value of land which would revert if the percentage of taxation against improvements had been allowed to remain undisturbed.

TAX HEAVY

"Coming down to the results of last year's operations, there was collected in general taxes $1,439,916.88 or 82.2 per cent of the total levy. The collection of arrears of taxes was $234,251.21. I have mentioned already that there was a balance of cash on hand at the end of the year of about $35,000, but the revenue account shows an excess of expenditures over Revenues of $193,760.48. This is accounted for principally by the fact that the account is charged with the full amount of the capital charges on the local improvement debentures which matured and were refunded last year, and interest on the local improvement shortage, which amounts were not levied for,—the policy being laid down that these amounts would be taken care of in the process of refunding. Water works shows a profit of $11,351.90.

SOURCES OF REVENUE

"With regard to new sources of revenue," Mr. Macdonald said: "I am afraid I am unable at this moment to suggest any that we are likely to get. In some provinces the municipalities, or the cities at least, are allowed to collect personal property tax or income tax, but these along with the gasoline tax, motor tax and amusement tax for which the cities provide all the services, the Government has commandeered for itself.

"The prepayment of taxes this year has been very satisfactory, a sum of $202,860.22 already having been collected, compared with $160,000 for the whole of last year. Arrears of taxes too, are coming in well. The amount collected to date this year is $66,677.60 as against $36,207.79 for the same period last year."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and Bully no Tail

(Copyright, 1924, by McClure News paper Syndicate)

By Howard R. Garis

"Dear me!" exclaimed Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy in the hollow stump bungalow one morning. "This is too bad!"

"What is too bad?" asked Uncle Wiggily, who was getting ready to hop off and look for an adventure. "Do you mean you see two bad chaps, Nurse Jane—the Bob Cat and the Alligator?"

"Nothing like that, I'm glad to say," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "I mean it's too bad my wrist watch has stopped. It must be broken, and now I can't tell what time it is when I go shopping."

"Let me see," spoke Mr. Longears. He put his ear to Nurse Jane's watch. There was no ticking sound. The watch had stopped.

"What shall I do?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper. "I ought to be going down town now to meet Mrs. Bow Wow, the lady dog. But I won't look at all stylish if I don't have a wrist watch."

"Wear mine," kindly offered Uncle Wiggily, taking it from his paw. "It's a bit larger than your's, but it is going, and your's isn't. However, I'll take your's to the jeweler's while I'm out adventuring. He'll fix it for you."

"Thank you," murmured Nurse Jane. So she put on Uncle Wiggily's wrist watch and gave him her's, and then she went down the path to meet Mrs. Bow Wow, and Uncle Wiggily hopped over the fields and through the woods, to look for an adventure, and also to have Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy's watch mended.

Uncle Wiggily had not hopped very far through the woods when, all of a sudden, he heard a croaking voice say:

"There! Now it's gone and I can't have any more fun! Oh, Why did it bounce it so high? Oh, dear me!"

"Here is trouble, as sure as my pink nose twinkles!" said Uncle Wiggily, his eyes shining like stars on a frosty night. "I'm glad there is trouble, for it gives me a chance to help. But first I must look and see that it isn't the Fox or Wolf trying to play a trick on me."

Peering through the bushes, the rabbit gentleman saw only Bully No Tail, the frog boy, gazing sadly up into a tree.

"What's the matter, Bully?" asked Uncle Wiggily, hopping out from behind a bush.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" croaked the frog boy. "I bounced my rubber ball so hard that it jumped up into this tree, and I can't get it down! I've jiggled the tree and joggled the tree, and I've thrown stones up to try and knock my ball down, but it won't come back to me."

"That's too bad," spoke the bunny rabbit. "Perhaps I can get it for you." Uncle Wiggily saw where the frog boy's ball was caught in the fork of the tree. Then the rabbit gnawed a long stick from the mulberry bush, and, with this stick, he poked Bully's ball down. It bounced on the ground and the frog boy caught it.

"Oh, thank you, Uncle Wiggily!" he croaked. "You are very kind. I wish I could do something for you."

"Tut! Tut! Nonsense! Don't talk of such a thing!" laughed the bunny gentleman. Then he hopped along to get Nurse Jane's watch mended and Bully hopped along bouncing his ball. But the frog boy took care not to bounce it so hard as to make it jump up in a tree.

The dog gentleman jeweler screwed a funny little round glass in his eye and looked at Nurse Jane's watch.

"There's nothing the matter with this watch except that it needs winding," barked the dog jeweler. Then he twisted the stem and the watch began ticking as merrily as before.

"Oh, I'm glad of that," said Uncle Wiggily. "Thank you." He put the watch in his pocket and again hopped in the woods, to look for an adventure. Reaching a cool, deep spring of water in the forest, Uncle Wiggily felt thirsty, and, kneeling down, he took a long drink. And just as he finished, he heard a kerplunking plopping sound, and something went splash into the spring.

"What's the matter?" croaked a voice.

"Oh, my goodness! It's Nurse Jane's wrist watch!" cried the bunny. "It slipped out of my pocket and went plop into the spring!" And that is just what had happened.

Uncle Wiggily tried to reach his paw down to the bottom of the spring and get the watch, but the spring was too deep. Then he tried to fish the watch out with a stick, but he couldn't get it.

"Oh dear!" sighed the rabbit. "This is very sad!"

"What's the matter?" croaked a voice behind the bunny, and, looking around, Mr. Longears saw Bully, the frog.

"I've lost Nurse Jane's wrist watch in the spring," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Don't worry about that!" laughed the jolly frog boy. "I'll soon get it for you. I'm at home in springs and all kinds of water." So Bully dived down, and, after a few seconds, up he came with Nurse Jane's wrist watch in one paw.

"Oh, thank you! I'm so glad to get it back!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Nurse Jane never would have forgiven me if I had lost it." The watch wasn't wet, because the jeweler dog had wrapped it in a leaf from the rubber plant, and it was as dry as toast.

Uncle Wiggily was putting the watch in his pocket, when, all of a sudden, the Bob Cat jumped out of the bushes and cried:

"I'm going to take you off to my den, Mr. Longears!"

"Oh, no, you aren't!" croaked Bully. With that the frog boy jumped back into the spring and splashed so much water on the Bob Cat that the bad chap sneezed "ker choo and ker foo!" and ran back into the woods.

"Thank you, Bully!" laughed the rabbit gentleman, as he hopped away with Nurse Jane's watch, and then the frog boy hopped along bouncing his ball. And if the clothes horse doesn't go to sleep under the hat tree and forget to give the pickled olive a ride on its back, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the carpet tacks.

SERIAL STORY

The Black Gang

By CYRIL McNEILE, "Sapper"

Author of "Bull-dog Drummond," "No Man's Land," etc.

A quarter of an hour later the two young men stepped into Piccadilly. Evidently Phyllis was not proposing to turn up, and nothing was to be gained by remaining. The next move lay with the other side, and until it was played it was merely a question of marking time. At the entrance to the Ritz they separated. Peter turning eastwards to keep some mysterious date with a female minor star of theatrical London, while Hugh strolled along Berkley Street towards his house. At times a faint smile crossed his face at the thought of Peterson devoting his young brain to the matter of starving Austrians, but for the most part a portentous frown indicated thought. For the life of him he couldn't see what was going to happen next. It appeared to him that the air wanted clearing, that in military parlance the situation was involved. And it was just as he was standing in Berkeley Square, waving his stick vaguely as a material aid to thought, that he felt a touch on his arm.

"Excuse me, sir," said a voice at his elbow, "but I would like a few words with you."

He looked down, and his eyes narrowed sudenly. Standing beside him was the hunchback, Mr. Atkinson, and for a moment Hugh regarded him in silence. Then, dismissing a strong inclination to throw this unexpected apparition under a passing furniture van, he raised his eyebrows slightly and removed his cigar from his mouth. Evidently the next move had begun, and he felt curious as to what form it would take.

"My powers as a conversationalist are well known," he remarked, "amongst a large and varied circle. I was not, however, aware that you belonged to it. In other words, sir, who the deuce are you and what the dickens do you want to talk to me about?"

"Something which concerns us both very intimately," returned the other. "And with regard to the first part of your question—do you think it necessary to keep up the pretence, especially as there are no witnesses present? I suggest, however, that as our conversation may be a trifle prolonged, and this spot is somewhat draughty, we should adjourn to your house; Brook Street, I believe, is where you live, Captain Drummond."

Hugh removed his cigar, and stared at the hunchback thoughtfully.

"I haven't the slightest wish to have a prolonged conversation with you in any place, draughty or otherwise," he remarked at length. "However, if you are prepared to run the risk of being slung out of the window if you bore me, I'll give you ten minutes."

He turned on his heel and strolled slowly on towards his house, while the hunchback, shooting venomous glances at him from time to time, walked by his side in silence. And it was not until some five minutes later when they were both in Drummond's study that any further remark was made.

It was Hugh who spoke, standing with his back to the fireplace, and looking down on the misshapen little man who sat in an arm-chair facing the light. An unpleasant customer, the light. An unpleasant customer, close to for the first time: a dangerous, vindictive little devil—but able, distinctly able. Just such a type as Peterson would choose for a tool.

"What is it you wish to say to me?" he said curtly.

"A few things, Captain Drummond," returned the other, "that may help to clear the air. In the first place may I say how pleased I am to make your acquaintance in the flesh, so to speak? I have long wanted a little talk with the leader of the Black Gang."

"I trust," murmured Hugh solicitously, "that the sun hasn't proved too much for you."

"Shall we drop this beating about the bush?" snapped the other.

"I shall drop you down the stairs if you talk to me like that, you damned little microbe," said Hugh coldly, and the other got to his feet with a snarl. His eyes, glaring like those of an angry cat, were fixed on Drummond, who suddenly put out a vast hand to screen the lower part of the hunchback's face. With a cry of fear he recoiled, and Hugh smiled grimly. So it had been Mr. Atkinson himself who had flung the bomb the night before; the eyes that had glared at him through the crack in the door were unmistakably the same as those he had just looked into over his own hand. With the rest of the face blotted out to prevent distraction there could be no doubt about it, and he was still smiling grimly as he lowered his hand.

"So you think I'm the leader of the Black Gang, do you?" he remarked. "I don't know that I'm very interested in your thoughts."

"I don't think: I know," said the hunchback viciously. "I found it out to-day."

"Indeed," murmured Hugh politely. "Would it be indiscreet to ask how you found out this interesting fact?"

"Do you deny it?" demanded the other furiously.

"My dear little man," said Hugh, "if you said I was the Pope I wouldn't deny it. All I ask is that now you've afflicted me with your presence you should amuse me. What are the grounds for this somewhat startling statement?"

"My grounds are these," said the hunchback, recovering his self-control: "last night my office in Hoxton was wrecked by a bomb."

"Good Lord!" interrupted Hugh mildly, "it must be old Theodosius Longmoor and his hundred quid. I thought he looked at me suspiciously during lunch."

"It was wrecked by a bomb, Captain Drummond," continued the other, not heeding the interruption. "That bomb also killed a man."

"It did," agreed Hugh grimly.

"One of the three men who broke in. The other two escaped—how I don't know. But one of them was recognised by the clerk downstairs."

"I gathered that was the story," said Hugh.

"He was recognised as the leader of the Black Gang," continued the hunchback. "And that was all until to-day. Just the leader of the Black Gang—an unknown person. But to-day—at the Ritz, Captain Drummond—my clerk, who had brought me a message, recognised him again, without his disguise. No longer an unknown man, you understand—but you."

Drummond smiled, and selected a cigarette from his case.

"Very pretty," he answered, "but a trifle crude. As I understand you, I gather that your shrewd and intelligent clerk states that the leader of the Black Gang broke into your office last night in order to indulge in the doubtful pastime of throwing bombs about the premises. He further states that I am the humorist in question. Allowing for the moment that your clerk is sane, what do you propose to do about it?"

"In certain eventualities, Captain Drummond, I propose to send an anonymous letter to Scotland Yard. Surprised though they would be to get it, it might help to them to clear up the mystery of Mr. Latter's insanity. It might prove rather unpleasant for you, of course, but that can't be helped."

"It's kind of you to give me a loophole of escape," said Drummond pleasantly. "What are the eventualities to which you allude?"

"The non-return to me of a little bag containing diamonds," remarked the hunchback quietly. "They were in the desk which was wrecked by the bomb."

"Dear, dear," said Hugh. "Am I supposed to have them in my possession?"

"I can only hope most sincerely for your sake that you have," returned the other. "Otherwise I am afraid that letter will go to the police."

For a while Drummond smoked in silence: then, with a lazy smile on his face, he sat down in an arm-chair facing the hunchback.

"Most interesting," he drawled. "Most interesting and entertaining. I'm not very quick, Mr.——, I've forgotten under what name you inflict yourself on a long-suffering world, but I shall call you Snooks—I'm not, as I say, very quick, Snooks, but as far as my brain can grapple with the problem it stands thus. If I give you back a packet of diamonds which I may, or may not, possess you will refrain from informing the police that I am the leader of the Black Gang. If, on the contrary, I do not give them back to you, you will send them that interesting piece of information by means of an anonymous letter." The smile grew even lazier. "Well, you damned little excrescence, I call your bluff. Get on with it."

With a snarl of rage the hunchback snatched up his hat and rose to his feet.

"You call it bluff, do you?"—and his voice was shaking with fury. "Very good, you fool—I accept. And you'll be sorry when you see my cards."

"Sit down, Snooks: I haven't finished with you yet." There was still the same maddening smile on Drummond's face, which disappeared suddenly as the hunchback moved towards the door. In two strides Hugh had him by the collar, and with a force that made his teeth rattle Mr. Atkinson found himself back in his chair.

"I said sit down, Snooks," said Drummond pleasantly. "Don't let me have to speak to you again, or I might hurt you. There are one or two things I have to say to you before depriving myself of your company. By the post following the one which carries your interesting disclosure will go another letter addressed to Sir Bryan Johnstone himself. I shall be in the office when he opens it—and we shall both be roaring with laughter over the extraordinary delusion that I—quite the biggest fool of his acquaintance—could possibly be the leader of the Black Gang. And, as if to prove the utter absurdity of the suggestion, this second letter will be from the leader of the Black Gang himself. In it he will state that he was present at 5 Green Street, Hoxton, last night in an endeavour to obtain possession of the anarchist and Bolshevist literature stored there. That he took with him a professional burglar to assist him in opening the safe and other things which might be there, and that while engaged in this eminently virtuous proceeding he found that he was trapped in the room by some mechanical device. And then, Snooks, will come a very interesting disclosure. He will state how suddenly he saw through a crack in the door a pair of eyes looking at him. And their color—see, what is the color of your eyes, Snooks?—grey-blue, very noticeable: Much the same as old Longmoor's—though his are a little bluer. And then the owner of the eyes, Snooks, was so inconsiderate as to throw a bomb in the room; a bomb that killed one of the men and wrecked the desk. So that the owner of the eyes, Snooks, grey-blue eyes just like yours, is a murderer—a common murderer. And we hang men in England for murder." He paused and stared at the hunchback. "This is a jolly game, isn't it?"

"And you really imagine," said the hunchback contemptuously, "that even your police would believe such a story that a man would wreck his own office, when on your own showing he had the men trapped inside it?"

"Probably not," said Drummond affably. "Any more than they would believe that I was the leader of the Black Gang. So since they're such a wretched crowd of unbelievers I don't think it's much good playing that game, Snooks. Waste of time, isn't it? So I vote we play another one, all on our own—a little game of make-believe—like we used to play in the nursery."

Luxton Hall May Be Debt Free By Next Fall

Special to The Times

Luxton, June 3—A very enjoyable event took place on Thursday at the Luxton Hall under the auspices of the Hall Committee, when a dance was held in aid of the hall and piano fund. The Queen of Agriculture and her attendants were invited as guests of honor, and a throne had been erected on the platform to which the Queen was led with all due ceremony by Major Wishart.

A short address was given by C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, on behalf of the Queen Contest Committee, in which he complimented the district institutes upon their splendid rally and organization of the confest, which had resulted so successfully in the Victoria celebration.

A. Hankin also thanked the people on behalf of the Luxton district. The hall had been prettily decorated and the floor was in excellent condition. Ray Kinloch's orchestra provided the music, and the evening was voted an unqualified success. One of the largest crowds ever witnessed at the Luxton Hall was present on this occasion, and the hall and piano fund will benefit considerably as a result of the event, as the net proceeds amounted to almost $60. The piano is now almost paid for, and the Committee hopes to soon see the hall free from debt. With such splendid support from the people of the district and the surrounding districts their object should soon be achieved.

At a meeting following the dance, a new Hall Committee was appointed consisting of A. Hankin, A. W. Weeks and Mrs. Stockand, with the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute as the Amusement Committee.

NEW LAUNCH

Nanaimo, June 3—The local fisheries added a new launch to their department, when E. C. Taylor, superintendent of the Fisheries Department took over the newly built and well equipped auxiliary Vanidis. The Vanidis, the letters in which represent "Vancouver Island and District," is a product of Prince Rupert workmanship. It is modernly equipped throughout and is driven by a 60 h.p. semi-Deisel engine, built in Beardmores Engineering Works, Coatbridge, Scotland. A 4 h.p. electrical generator supplies the light. Purser's office, a stateroom with four beds, and cooking quarters are on the lower deck and well planned. The craft arrived here on Sunday evening from Prince Rupert, and was handled by a capable crew, the personnel of which is: F. P. Quinn, mechanic; J. W. Allan, supervising engineer of the Fisheries Department; Wm. Hume and Jack McGregor, V.C.

MISS KNOWLES TO GO TO NANAIMO

Nanaimo, June 3—The board of management of Nanaimo Municipal Public Library have just received word from the B. C. Public Library Commission that Nanaimo's request for the loan of the services of Miss P. C. Knowles, assistant librarian to the Provincial Government library at the Parliament Buildings, Victoria, for the space of six months for the purpose of reorganizing the Nanaimo library and placing it upon an efficient basis, has been consented to by the Minister of Education.

Since the termination of the old Library Association the library arrangements have been merely "marking time," and Thomas Spencer has continued the old part-time arrangements for public library service for the first six months of this year by arrangements with the board.

In securing the services of Miss Knowles the Nanaimo board will ensure the public being served for some time by one who is an expert in her profession. Miss Knowles takes a vacation for the first two weeks of this month, and will meet the members of the Nanaimo Library Board immediately after.

CHERNIAVSKYS ARE NOW IN AUSTRALIA

Mischa Describes Latest Tour of the Musical Brothers

The Australian newspapers are giving ample space to the present tour of the Cherniavskys in that country. Mrs. Jan Cherniavsky is with her husband on this occasion, but her sister, Mrs. Mischa Cherniavsky remains in Vancouver.

Mischa Cherniavsky, the 'cellist, and the youngest of the trio, now possesses a permanent home in London, as he bought a freehold in the Avenue Road, St. John's Wood, only a few minutes' walk from Lord's Cricket Ground. "Sir Henry Wood lives close by," added the artist in an interview in the Sydney Morning Herald, "and he heard me play Elgar's new 'Cello Concerto' (presented here last year by Jean Gerardy), and gave me some invaluable hints thereon. The Queen's Hall orchestra conductor I consider the foremost musician in the metropolis. Since I last visited Sydney I have also made friends with Pablo Casals, and during his London season in September he stayed for a time at our house. The Spanish 'cellist is adored in England, but it is the artists to whom he appeals, for they recognize his inherent genius; while the public is chiefly caught by his equally brilliant execution. I arranged to follow him to Barcelona, where he reviewed my style during six weeks' lessons—a great kindness on his part.

"From Barcelona I joined my brothers for our season at Gibraltar, Cairo and Alexandria. Governor-General Lord Allenby came to our Cairo concert, which was announced for 9.30. Oriental etiquette invests him with a rank and style which resemble those of an Imperial Czar. All were seated patiently until he arrived to trumpet fanfares at 10.15. None dare move until he and his suite had similarly effected a ceremonial state exist. Another Eastern experience was our visit to Jerusalem last July, where we had a great reception at the New University Hall, and gave a concert to the Jewish immigrants and leading notables. There are many fine singers there conversant with the ancient Hebrew chants and cantatas right away back to the Maccabean era, and even earlier still. Last October we left London for New York, and gave a tour of eighty-six concerts in Canada, the United States and Mexico."

CONSERVATIVES URGE ECONOMY, TAX REDUCTION

Taxes Too High in B.C., Candidates Assert

Conservative candidates in Victoria addressed a meeting in North Ward School last night, vigorously attacking the Oliver Government.

H. Despard Twigg asserted that the people of British Columbia were being crushed by heavy taxation, the result of the Government's extravagance. The per capita debt of the Province, he said, was far above any justifiable figure.

"Do you think people are coming over here from the Old Country with money to invest and have the Government take a lot of it in taxation? Mr. Twigg demanded. "We must have lower taxation and the sooner the better. The people must have relief from this excessive burden."

Mr. Twigg added that he believed that fifty per cent of the Conservative candidates in the Province had been approached by the Provincials and asked to run on their ticket.

Mayor Reginald Hayward came out strongly in favor of economy in the provincial administration. His own record in municipal life, he said, had been marked by vigorous efforts to keep costs down to the lowest possible level.

"What the City Council can do the Provincial Government can do," he said. "Give the Conservative Party a chance."

He declared that the Conservative candidates intend to fight for a further Provincial Government contribution to the cost of the Johnson Street bridge.

Major Gus Lyons assailed the Government's financing and disputed the figures given out by the Government to show the extent of the provincial debt. He said that enormous sums had been lost by the Government through its Department of Industries and its soldier settlements.

That the Government was mishandling educational problems in British Columbia was the charge of Joshua Hinchliffe. A Conservative Government, he said, would provide the country with a more useful educational system than the present one and at a greatly reduced cost. He declared that the Government had not decided to hold an educational survey until it had been forced to do so by the pressure of public opinion.

$60,000,000 LOSS IN GOODS BOUGHT OUTSIDE PROVINCE

Striking Argument Advanced in Support of B.C. Products Campaign

Appeal to Housewives to Stimulate Demand is Made By Bureau

Entering into the spirit of the B.C. products' campaign more stores in Victoria to-day devoted their window display to the manufactures and products of British Columbia. There was hardly a store in the city that had not joined in the effort to feature home goods and window cards urging shoppers to give preference to British Columbia goods were liberally distributed by the industrial group of the Chamber of Commerce and displayed by the stores.

With 500 different articles manufactured in British Columbia most of the merchants were able to feature B.C. goods and those stores selling goods which cannot be obtained in this Province generously turned over a part of their window space to a display of B.C. goods.

A striking advertising feature to impress upon the citizens the loss through purchasing outside what could be obtained in the Province is a dummy cheque on the Bank of British Columbia reading "Pay to foreign countries, $60,000,000 for goods purchased in direct competition with B.C. industries, signed British Columbia citizens."

PITHY PARS

The pithy paragraphs of the Home Products Bureau are being freely circulated. "In time when the products of British Columbia are seeking markets, and there are problems of unemployment, it is especially the duty of citizens to patronize and give preference to home products," one of them reads.

Others are as follows:

"Every dollar spent for home products is helping to build up your community. If you buy the foreign article you are helping to build up the communities in foreign countries."

"B.C. imports millions of pounds of fruit and vegetables annually from foreign countries. These importations rob B.C. farmers, can makers, printers, paper and box manufacturers and wire nail makers of their sales and provide wages for thousands of forign workers. British Columbia needs this addition to her payroll."

THE WOMAN'S PART

The part the women can play in popularizing B.C. products is emphasized. "The prosperity of British Columbia farms and factories is locked up between kitchen doors and front porches of the homes of B.C. The women of British Columbia can teach the coming generation why it is to their advantage to purchase home products in preference to foreign articles. This will educate the children of to-day who are the buyers of to-morrow."

EARLY BERRIES IN SAANICH, BUT RAIN ESSENTIAL

Shipping Sooner Than Last Year Although Crops Suffer From Drought

Saanich fruitgrowers expect to ship their first carload of early strawberries this year by June 10 or 12. Although the berries are in dire need of rain, they are developing well and ripening quickly. Promising reports are reaching the Fruitgrowers' Association from all parts of the district, and berry growers everywhere expect a bumper season. Rain, however, would be welcome at this time. In a short while it will be too late, for the berries will then be ripened on the plants, and rain would only spoil what crop there is. The continued fine weather is not conducive to big, fat and juicy berries, such as Sanich has shipped to outside points in previous seasons.

All over the Saanich peninsula, Gordon Head and other big berry growing centres, the work of strawing the plants has been continued for the past few weeks. Now the patches are practically all finished.

The rush of picking has not yet commenced. The growers are merely watching developments, picking their few early patches of fruit and awaiting rain.

Strawberry pickers are asked to register for employment with Miss Marlatt, at the employment bureau. As there is always a great demand for pickers, there is nothing to prevent many now looking for work to gain several weeks of healthful outdoor labor.

In connection with canning contracts, H. E. Tanner, representing Saanich, C. B. McCarthy, of the same district, and F. Summers and B. Twining, of the Gordon Head Fruitgrowers' Association, last night journeyed to the mainland.

DRYS CONDEMN BEER PROPOSAL

See no Democracy in Plebiscite Planned For Voters

A statement prepared by the League to Oppose the Sale of Beer by the Glass, whose name denotes its intentions, has been prepared with a view to arousing public opinion against the beer plebescite which is being put to the people this month. The statement is as follows.

"Considerable interest is being shown in connection with the plebiscite on the sale of beer by the glass which is to be taken at the forthcoming election. The newly formed organization in the city, which is strongly opposed to the sale of beer by the glass, wishes to have the public made aware of some of the provisions now embodied in the Liquor Act.

"1. Although a majority of the voters in the Province as a whole decide against the sale of beer by the glass, the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may still issue a proclamation authorizing the sale of beer in the electoral or polling divisions which have given a majority in favor of it, and this, notwithstanding that in the same electoral district a majority of voters have noted No.

"2. The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may at any subsequent time submit the question to the electors of the whole province or any electoral district or polling division as may seem fit. Furthermore, in the same manner any phase of the question dealing with the liquor situation may be submitted to the people if it is thought desirable to have an expression of opinion.

"3. In spite of a vote favorable to the sale of beer throughout the Province as a whole, or in any electoral district or polling division, the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council has still the right to decide as to which of these shall be given the right to sell beer by the glass."

TWO MEN SHAKEN BY EXPLOSION

Windows of Gashouse Meter Room Part Company With Frames; Gas Explodes

An explosion which blew out the windows of the meter room of the Victoria Gas Works and singed the eyebrows and features of two employees attempting to read meter dials occurred when one of the men lit a match at 11 p.m. yesterdtey to see better the dial readings. Apparently undetected until it announced itself so decisively, a leak in a gas pipe occasioned the explosion.

Robert Pearce, 55 Hampton Road, and Mathew Lo[illegible] 389 Davida Street, who were in the room at the time were dazed by the force of the blast and slightly burnt by the rapid flash. Effort was made at once to get the men to the open air, and a call sent in for the fire engines. Content with announcing the leak in its own manner, the gas flame dwindled down to a small flame at the point of egress from the pipe. The trouble was righted without further mishap.

A request for magazines and books for the use of the sailors of the Special Service Squadron and also for inclusion in the boxes to lighthouse keepers is made by the Ladies' Guild for Sailors. Any donation of this kind may be left with the Victoria Wood and Coal Co., 1104 Broad Street.

People Who Avoid Over-Fatigue Are People Who Avoid Sickness

A great deal is said about men's rights, but how about WOMEN'S RIGHTS. Is it right for any woman to perspire over a washtub—it's bad enough in Winter, but in Summer it harks back to the days of slavery. It is no mere right for a woman to do her own and the family's washing than it is for a man to scrub and clean his office.
